Canada-U.S. Take Action On Big Highway

Parley Will Be Held Soon At Seattle—Air Survey Of Proposed Routes To Be Carried Out

OTTAWA, June 23.—Hon. J. A. MacKinnon, minister for Alberta in the federal cabinet, has been successful in having Alberta included in the investigation of the Alaska highway project. Mr. MacKinnon pointed out to the cabinet the feasibility of a Montana-Lethbridge-Calgary-Edmonton-north route, and this proposal will be studied in conjunction with the enquiry which starts next week.

By THOMAS WAYLING
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, June 23.—The Canadian and United States governments are to take action immediately with respect to the proposed Alaska highway. The Canadian section of the International Commission leaves for the west Monday. Hearings will be held at all principal points on the proposed route, starting with Prince George on July 6.

The Canadian section will then meet the American section at Vancouver on July 20 and after a conference in Vancouver will proceed to Seattle for a conference on American soil.

While the Canadian section is conducting hearings in northern British Columbia an air survey of the whole route will be carried out. Yesterday the order-in-council appointing the commission was broadened at the instance of Hon. J. A. MacKinnon to include Alberta.

TWO MAIN ROUTES

There are two main routes under consideration; one via Hazelton and the other via Finlay Forks. Both will be considered by the commission. Hearings will be held at Vanderhoof, Burns Lake, Smithers, Hazelton, Prince Rupert, Stewart, Whitehorse, Atlin and Dawson. The commission will then sail south to Vancouver and hold a meeting there July 19.

Hon. Charles Stewart, head of the Canadian section of the international joint commission and chairman of the Canadian section of the Alaska Highway Commission will conduct the Canadian hearings. Other members of the commission who will participate in the enquiry include Brig. Gen. T. L.

hoped the Royal North American tour might "be of some importance in its influence on the Empire's future destiny."

His Majesty spoke on the first day after his homecoming and after a drive from Buckingham Palace to the Guildhall to receive the city's official greeting.

DEEPEST IMPRESSION

He told the audience his deepest impression of the tour was "that even in this age of machines and mass production the strength of human feeling still is the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs."

His Majesty declared it was his desire to serve the ideals of the British Commonwealth which led him to undertake the journey—"to foster its sane, wholesome faith; to show, if I could, that its headship, which

JAPAN ADVANCES GUARD ON FRENCH CONCESSION

LONDON, June 23.—Great Britain gave Japan a blunt warning today she would be forced to take action if the Japanese continued what Prime Minister Chamberlain described as "intolerable insults" to British residents of blockaded Tientsin.

TIENTSIN, China, June 23.—Terms for liquidation of the Tientsin blockade were presented to the French and British Consuls-General here today in identical letters from the provisional government of Peking, the puppet regime maintained by the Japanese at the former Chinese imperial capital. The terms were understood to follow closely those previously stated in Japanese circles and to represent, in effect, a demand for a complete shift in British Far Eastern policy.

By J. D. WHITE
Associated Press Foreign Staff.

TIENTSIN, June 23—Japan's 10-day-old blockade of British and French concessions here bore down on the French today when Japanese guards pushed their lines closer upon French territory.

Japanese sentries at the end of the international bridge between Japanese-occupied territory and the French concession advanced several yards onto the bridge until they almost rubbed elbows with the French and their Chinese police stationed on the other end of the causeway.

Heretofore, the Japanese blockade has been directed with greatest severity at Britons. Japanese have apologized for the necessity of blockading the French concession because it is contiguous to the British settlement.

The meat supply at markets in the British concession today was restricted to 100 pounds, speedily sold out to a horde of buyers. Friday demands for fish went unanswered—there was no seafood whatever available.

Fresh Indignities Heaped On Britain

TIENTSIN, June 23—The British consulate-general charged Japanese gendarmes with heaping fresh indignities and insults last night on Britons seeking to pass the barriers of the blockaded British and French concessions and protested against a

States Gives Backing To Its Admiral

WASHINGTON, June 23.—United States officials strongly backed last night the stand of Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, who sharply rejected a Japanese request the destroyer Pillsbury leave the Chinese port of Swatow. Not only did the Pillsbury stay on the scene but the destroyer Pope arrived to join her.

Yarnell, commander-in-chief of the U.S. Asiatic fleet, notified Japanese authorities "the paramount duty of United States naval vessels is the protection of American citizens and they will go wherever it is necessary at any time to carry out that mission and will remain in such places as long as American citizens are in need of protection or assistance."

While concurring in this, and in Yarnell's notice that Japan would be held responsible for any damage or injury she inflicted on American vessels or personnel, officials here indicated no diplomatic action was planned as a result of the Japanese request.

DUKE WINDSOR SAYS BROTHER DID GREAT ACT

Edward Describes King's Journey As Marvellous Job

By RALPH HEINZEN
British United Press, Exclusive Cable to Edmonton Bulletin

PARIS, June 23.—The Duke of Windsor will make no decision to return to Great Britain or visit the United States until he talks to King George by telephone, a spokesman said today. The statement was made because of anxiety lest an informal reception which the Duke and Duchess gave to American press correspondents be misinterpreted.

The Duke and Duchess received the correspondents, who made a "press view" flight in the new trans-Atlantic flying boat Atlantic Clipper.

The Duke and his American-born Duchess received the correspondents at their home and served them champagne.

For half an hour they chatted animatedly, discussing the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to Canada and the United States, and their own desire to visit America.

When the Duchess was asked why their visit was delayed, she said, "We were afraid of you"—the press.

WILL GIVE ANSWER

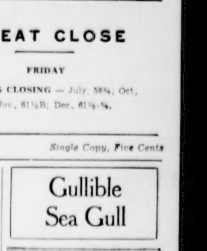

"We will answer all your questions when we come," she continued, jokingly, "but we hope we are always as friendly as you are now."

A correspondent told the Duke his recent peace speech was well received in the United States.

"I am glad to hear that," he replied. "When the politicians speak every one says, 'What's their game?' I have none. My only interest is that there will be

R. SUTHERLAND RESIGNS FROM POLICE FORCE

Veteran Detective Chief Leaves Service Due To Ill Health

Member of the city police force for 28 years and head of the criminal investigation branch for the past eight years, Chief of Detectives Robertson Sutherland resigned Thursday. It was announced by city commissioners Friday.

Inspector Sutherland who has been in hospital recently, resigned owing to ill-health. Just previous to his resignation he had been granted three months' sick leave and he will retire from the force at the end of that period.

The illness of Mrs. Sutherland, who has been living at Vancouver for more than a year on physician's orders, was also a factor in his resignation. He will join her and his daughter at the coast, it was stated today.

JOINED IN 1911

A native of Scotland, he came to Edmonton and joined the city police department in 1911. He had previously served on an Old Country police force.

Four years after joining the Edmonton force he became a desk sergeant and was promoted to the rank of inspector in the uniform department 12 years ago. In 1931 he was made chief of the criminal investigation bureau with the rank of Detective Inspector.

His record in police work has been remarkable, and he has achieved a reputation as one of the outstanding men in western Canada in detective work.

A notable example of his coolness in a desperate situation occurred four years ago when, held up at the point of a gun, he turned on the two thugs involved, grasping their

RANFURLY MAN FACES COURT SLAYING COUNT

Martin Zelko, Farmer, Is Charged With Death of Two Children

Facing two charges of infanticide and two charges of concealment of birth, Martin Zelko, Ranfurly farmer, will go on trial at Vegreville Monday before Mr. Justice W. C. Ives and a jury.

The murder charges arise out of the death of two children born to the accused by his housekeeper, Mrs. Helen Todoschuk, the first birth, a girl, taking place in December, 1938, and the second, a boy, in December the following year.

CHILD DROWNED

It is alleged the accused, a married man living apart from his wife, drowned the first child and disposed of her body by burning it in a straw stack. The second child, it is alleged, was also drowned and the body destroyed in the house heater.

A third child, a girl, was born of the common-law union, the birth taking place in a Saskatoon hospital. The child is still living. The crown will seek to establish that the accused suggested that the child be poisoned. The suggestion was made when the mother visited the farm some months subsequent to its birth.

POLICE PROBE

Police investigation of the two deaths followed disclosures made to the police by Mrs. Ella Klinka, Evergreen district resident, who became engaged to the accused after a former housekeeper had left for Saskatoon.

Other cases on the list are alleged murder, murder and rape charges against a district woman, and a seduction charge.

Clay Tomlinson, Edmonton, will prosecute the cases.

Hail Hits Rich Grain Sections

Some Foot-High Fields Flattened In Bowden Zone

CALGARY, June 23.—Hail struck sections of rich grain lands from Bashaw, 130 miles north of Calgary, to some districts south of this city late Thursday. The storm reportedly flattened some fields of grain that previously were a foot high in the Bowden district, 70 miles north of Calgary, and struck again in the Bashaw area.

Hail stones reportedly were piled from two to six inches along a path extending approximately eight miles wide in the Bashaw district, telegraph reports stated. Farmers reported crop damage from 10 to 90 per cent in this area.

Reports of light hail which did little damage came from Olds, 58 miles north of Calgary, where 1.14 inches of rain fell in 35 minutes earlier in the day. Hail also was reported 12 miles north of Calgary, at Black Diamond, 40 south of Calgary, and at Gleichen, East of Calgary. No reports of damage came from these districts.

Showers were frequent in other southern Alberta sections and rain fell in Calgary late last night.

Grits Name Quintet To Probe Unity-Tory Provincial Proposals

Edmonton provincial Liberal association Thursday night selected a committee of five to find out what proposals would be advanced, at the meeting to be called next week by the Edmonton constituency Unity association, for co-operative action in the naming of candidates for the city in the provincial election.

This decision was taken following a long debate upon a letter from the Unity association president, J. Percy Page, to Edward C. Fisher, head of the Liberal association in the city, in which Mr. Page invited Liberals to appoint a committee to sit in with Unity and Conservative party representatives.

Mr. Page said that he hoped this meeting could be held early next week and that it would endorse the calling of a convention that would select "joint candidates" to be backed by Liberals, Conservatives, and Unity.

The five-member committee appointed by the Liberal association at its meeting Thursday night in the

GRAVEL ROAD FROM NAMAO TO BON ACCORD

Fifteen-mile stretch of highway between Namao and Bon Accord will be gravelled this year as part of the province's highway construction program, Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works announced Friday. Mr. Fallow also stated that this highway will be graded in the northern district, present plans calling for grading west of Athabasca and both north and east of Namao.

Continued wet weather has delayed the surfacing or bituminizing of the Jasper highway from the western city limits to Stony Plain. To date six of the 21 miles in this stretch have been completed. When weather conditions permit, this work will be pressed to completion.

He declared that crews are making satisfactory progress in the regrading of the Jasper highway from Stony Plain west to Carvell Corner where re-location and straightening work is going on.

He announced completion of gravelling of a 15-mile stretch on the Jasper highway at Carrot Creek.

Mr. Fallow stated that next Monday he proposes to commence an inspectional trip of highways in southern Alberta. He may leave by airplane Sunday night to reach the south. Bituminous surfacing of the main highway between Crossfield and Calgary and to the south of the latter point, has been retarded due to wet weather.

ANGLO-U.S. BARTER DEAL DROPS WHEAT

Will Exchange Cotton For Rubber As Result Canada Protest

LONDON, June 23. — Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, and Joseph Kennedy, the United States ambassador, today signed an agreement providing for an exchange of cotton and rubber on a barter basis, the supplies to be stored for use in the event of war.

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 23. — Wheat has been dropped from the Anglo-American barter deal as a result of protests from the Canadian government.

Oliver Stanley, president of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons that an agreement had been reached between London and Washington on exchange of cotton for rubber. Papers were to be signed later today.

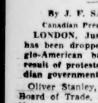

The minister's statement made no mention of wheat and officials of the Board of Trade said the present agreement did not include it.

CANADA PROTESTED

When the barter deal was first mooted the United States planned to exchange wheat and cotton, but this last fall protests by the Canadian government, who feared Canada's market in the United Kingdom for her wheat would be injured seriously.

Canada also protested the whole idea of the barter deal as being contrary to the spirit of free trade relations with the United Kingdom and the United States as exemplified by the trade treaties between the three countries.

Canon Attacks Book Before Church Council On Marriage Relations

LONDON, June 23.—A book compiled by the Church of England's moral welfare council on marriage relations was assailed as "shameful" thursday before the church council which reserved judgment to read the volume.

Canon E. T. Kirby of Manchester attacked the book as "about the most filthy and disgusting thing ever I have seen."

Dr. George Lawrence Russell, who wrote the chapter singled out for the severest condemnation said "I tried to get over the disastrous separation between the spiritual and the physical."

"The physical side is important and I had to deal with plain facts in a straightforward manner," he said. "I could not deal with marriage as if it were purely a spiritual relationship."

Bishop F. O. Taylor-Hawkes of Kingston-Upon-Thames defended the volume, entitled "Education for Christian Marriage, Its Theory and Practice." He said copies sent to young men whose engagements had been announced resulted in grateful letters.

Unity-Tory

I.O.O.F. hall was given no power to bind the party in any way to the proposals that may be advanced by Mr. Page and the Unity association.

The committee is instructed simply "to ascertain" what those proposals are and then to report on them to a Liberal general convention, who is called "as soon as possible", at which the party's action respecting the nomination of "joint candidates" will be determined.

LIBERAL PRIMARIES

Executive of the Liberal association will proceed with the holding of Liberal primaries to choose delegates who will attend the convention at which the party attitude respecting "Unity" will be decided.

Personnel of the committee selected by Thursday's meeting, which was attended by 210 party members, consists of Ald. Hugh A. Macdonald, Duncan R. Ingram, Gerald O'Connor K.C., M.L.A., Robert J. English, and Miss Laura Carrington.

Nominated as a member of this committee, Mr. Fisher, chairman of the meeting, declined to allow his name to be placed.

"I hold, without restrictions of any kind, certain definite views and whether I receive a big, dred or a thousand nominations in charge of my political principles does not matter. I will still hold firm to my political faith," said Mr. Fisher.

SO THEY MAY LEARN

"So I think it best," he added, "that this meeting should appoint people to this committee who will learn from their meeting with the Unity group and Conservatives any things that will be already."

As president of the Liberal association, Mr. Fisher is an ex-officio member of every committee which speaks and acts in the name of the association.

Suggestion made by Mr. Fisher that the report of the committee be considered by the association executive consisting of about 100 members representing the whole city was turned down by the meeting in favor of having the Liberal convention pass the final judgment upon the committee's action.

C. H. Grant, K.C., association secretary, said that the Liberal council meeting at Red Deer Saturday had made it plain that party action respecting co-operation with other parties must be carried out with the majority decision of Liberals in each constituency.

"There is only one way," he maintained, "and that is to abide by the majority opinion as in Edmonton, and that is to call a general convention to which all Liberals in the city may be represented."

SEES DISCOURTESY

Ald. Macdonald said, in supporting the appointment of a committee, that he was surprised and hurt not to accept Mr. Page's invitation.

"As we are asked to do," Mr. Macdonald said, "to find out just what proposals Mr. Page has to lay before us. If we find they are not satisfactory or are impracticable, we are free to report back to the convention and say that. Besides, the committee has no power to bind the party to any policy. All it can do is report to the convention and submit its findings for approval or rejection."

Ald. M. B. McColl said he was in favor of having the committee appointed, but wished that a Labor representative be included as well as Liberals, Conservatives and Unity, at Mr. Page's meeting.

"I have found out from my work on the city council," said Mr. McColl, "that the Labor Representatives of Labor, especially the representatives of organized Labor in the trade unions field, are a fine men and I think their counsel and support would be valuable at this meeting to which we are asked to send our representatives."

UNITY CALLS MEETING

Mr. Fisher replied, saying that Mr. Page and the Unity association were calling the meeting, not the Liberal party, and Mr. Page had not invited Labor representatives.

"Let me make the situation clear," said Mr. Fisher. "The Liberal party has nothing to do with saying who is to attend the Unity meeting called by Mr. Page. We are simply to meet Mr. Page's guests.

"The C.C.F. has already publicly said that it will have nothing at all to do with the Unity party.

"Only Liberals, Conservatives, and Unity people are invited to this meeting, and surely it is impossible for anyone to expect the Liberal party to broaden out the name of the meeting.

"Can a person invited to attend a wedding call other guests to attend?" he asked.

"We are not looking after the interests of Labor. Its leaders and members are perfectly capable of looking after those interests themselves. If our committee looks after the interests of the Liberal party that will be a mighty fine bit of work," he concluded.

APPEAL MADE

Appeal for the appointment of the committee was made by Mr. O'Connor, who said that the deciding a report on the recent Liberal council meeting at Red Deer.

Mr. O'Connor also asked that the party call a convention to decide the final policy to be pursued in the nomination of candidates in the city in the provincial election.

He added that the selection of fair-minded and thoughtful people believe that it is necessary to have candidates to be supported such action and called upon the meeting to deal with the situation as it affected Edmonton alone, and grant the committee power to meet Mr. Page, and the Conservative party.

Dr. Walter Merrish, M.L.A., said that if the Unity party was simply a "second Tory party," Liberals should have nothing to do with it.

But, he added, if it was standing solely with bringing the Liberals and Conservatives together, to defeat the provincial government, then he would support it.

He recalled that Conservative support had helped elect Mr. Fisher to the legislature in the Edmonton by-election in which he was the Liberal candidate.

President of the Edmonton Provincial Women's Liberal Association, Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, spoke against having the committee appointed.

"I believe that Liberalism is a dynamic, progressive, fighting faith. I think our principles will be attained if we attend this meeting.

"Let us not consent to beat a retreat from our principles," she urged. "Let us stand firm and stand together in support of the Liberal cause and beat a charge for progress."

A. E. Nightingale said there was "a large blue of neutral voters" that were tired of party labels in the provincial field and anxious to see throughout the provincial government by co-operative action.

Andrew Shandro said "it would be strange if at our convention delegates were appointed to nominate the Liberals and the committee then agreed to nominate only two or three. That is what you got for dealing with people opposed to us, people who do not even exist politically."

revolvers and holding them helpless by gripping the hammers on the weapons so that they could not fire.

Accompanied by Detective Murdo Munro, he had arrested two well-known criminals on Jasper avenue, after they had committed several break-ins and robberies.

The men placed in a police car and driven to the police station, with Detective Munro driving the car, and Inspector Sutherland sitting in the back seat between the two criminals.

As the detective was stopping the car in front of the police station, one of the men drew a revolver, placed the muzzle in Munro's back and ordered him to keep driving.

GRABS GUN

Sutherland reached forward and with the speed of lightning, grasped the gun, his hand clamping down on the hammer so that it would not fire. He felt another revolver pressed against his stomach and, without a thought of the danger, clutched it, and then squeezed over the gun's hammer and the hand of the thug. The gun was pointed at the floor but the muscles of arm against the strength of the two thugs, he forced both guns into a position where they were useless.

Other detectives saw the struggle from the police station window, rushed out and disarmed the men.

Sutherland had held one of the guns so tightly that the hammer had bitten deep into the ball of his thumb and the wound required stitches.

The two men subsequently were convicted attempted murder and of the robbery charges on which they were arrested.

Detective Sergeant Bert Petherick is acting head of the department in Inspector Sutherland's absence.

Appointment of a new permanent head of the criminal investigation bureau will be deferred until after the return of Chief Constable A. G. Shute from the Chief Constables' convention at Windsor, Mayor John W. Fry said.

Muddy Roads Cause Farmers Much Grief

CORONATION, June 23—Recent heavy rains which have been recorded have caused the farmers considerable trouble. Ungravelled roads have such deep ruts and mats of mud across our frames drag on the roads.

Motorists have been taking fence posts with them in the deep ruts, and in many cases have taken down a section of a farmer's fence and go through the fields. The trouble is that a large percentage of the motorists fail to replace the fence posts and farmers are finding their fields open and accessible to stock.

A record precipitation of more than six inches has been recorded to date this season in the district.

DIDSBURY, June 23—This district was visited by rather severe storms Thursday when two storms coming from the north did damage to young crops, both east and west. Damage was worse on the west side, with a few farmers' crops being completely flattened, among those affected being Stauffer and Ted Cuffling. Wm McCullough, on the east side, received considerable hail. The main storm in the west came about noon and the other one late in the afternoon.

Attack Upon Canada

Great War General Tells Of Dangers

Message Fight for U.S.

By JOHN ASPINWALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

CANYON, N. Y., June 23.—Assertions that the United States would fight if Canada is threatened were left today with a Canadian-American conference by Major-General John O'Ryan, Great War commander, and Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah.

"An attack on Canada, from a strategic viewpoint, is an attack upon the United States," General O'Ryan told political scientists from both sides of the Canadian border assembled by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

"This nation will respond to such an attack as a lusty man who sees his own brother beset by malefactors," he said. "I believe the same principle would apply were the circumstances reversed."

The United States senator from Utah declared "Defence of Canada from attack on the Pacific is a fundamental concern of the United States," and added:

"If you want to know what America will fight for and when, you can put it quite simply: America will find herself in war the moment the Atlantic no longer is in the hands of friends."

Thomas asserted he would "unhesitatingly preach peace," but added: "There are limits when war becomes necessary."

Alaska Road

Tremblay, Quebec, a former member of the Quebec Harbor Commission and a consulting engineer; J. M. Michel of Montreal, engineer, department of mines and resources, who will conduct the aerial survey; Arthur Dixon, chief engineer of the department of public works, Victoria; J. W. Spencer of the firm of David Spencer Co., Ltd., of Victoria and Vancouver.

U.S. COMMISSION

The American commission includes Congressman Warner S Magnuson of Seattle, D. McDonald, engineer, Alaska road commission, J. W. Carey, U.S. public works administration, Portland, and T. A. Riggs, former governor of Alaska.

The original order-in-council passed by the Canadian government on March 6 authorizes the urgent representations and representations received from the United States government for the construction of a highway in British Columbia connecting the B. C. road system with the Alaska road system and the U. S. roads, and authorizes the commission to enquire into the economic, engineering and financial aspects of the matter.

The American authority given the U. S. section empowers it to also enquire into the financing of the project. Hon. Ian Mackenzie, B.C. minister in the federal cabinet, had been pressing action behind-the-scenes, and the advent of Hon. J. A. MacKinnon into the cabinet provided added pressure.

Only yesterday, however, was Mr. McKinnon able to get the enquiry broadened to include the Alberta phase. The Alberta proposal points out that there is already a through road from Montana to Lethbridge, Calgary and Edmonton. There is also a fair road from Edmonton to the Peace River and on to Pouce Coupe, Dawson Creek and past Fort St. John.

It would be necessary to construct a road from the end of this present road to join the proposed "B" highway at Finley Forks.

Premier Patullo is understood to favor this connecting road as with the completion of the Finley Forks road it would provide an outlet for the Peace River block.

On the commission's maps the Hazelton proposal is dubbed the "A" route and the Finley Forks, the "B" route.

DELICATE TASK

It will be the commission's most delicate task to recommend as between the two routes. The "A" route through Hazelton is nearer the coast but would have up through some river cut country and over a 6,000 feet high level. The Finley Forks route does not go higher than 3,000 feet.

The latter route would go north from Prince George, to the Forks, Sifton Pass, the headwaters of the Liard river, to Pelly and so to Dawson.

In addition to the Edmonton interest, Jasper has now entered the picture and points out that a road from Jasper to Prince George would connect Edmonton and Alberta generally with the proposed Alaska highway.

The Canadian commission may hold some informal discussions at Edmonton on its way through to Prince George and possibly a formal hearing at Edmonton on the return from Seattle.

The commission may also visit Victoria to confer with the provincial government authorities who are sponsoring the scheme.

The commission's secretary, While the economic situation is being studied at the hearings, Mr. Wardle will carry out his air reconnaissance, and other engineering surveys, so that the joint conference at Vancouver will have available all necessary data.

but whether the platform will be completed by that time, or whether it will be required to finish it, is unknown.

Asked regarding his opinion as to when the Dominion election would be called, Mr. Blackmore replied that "anyone who would make any kind of a forecast would be rash, either in respect to whether there will be election or when it will take place."

Suggestion that Ottawa reports indicated a vote in September or October, failed to draw any prediction from the Social Credit parliamentary leader.

ALL IN RING

Asked as to whether any of the Social Credit Ottawa members had signified their intention of staying out of the next election and declining to stand for re-election, Mr. Blackmore replied: "Not so far as I know," and added that none had informed him of any intention to retire from the field.

In reply to a question as to whether any or all of the Social Credit candidates would seek re-election under the banner of the New Democracy movement, headed by Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian minister to Washington, Mr. Blackmore replied that "it is by no means the intention to do so at present, and even discuss it" and added that no one knew at this date what might eventually transpire.

He added, however, that the platform now being drafted, would be of a Social Credit nature.

Mr. Blackmore side-stepped any prediction of the outcome of the next election, stating that predicting election results was one thing he never did.

He hopes to return south Friday evening and in the meantime, in addition to attending to various business he hopes to transact some business with government departments.

Japanese attempt to search British fighters tied up in the Hai river along the British bund.

The consulate-general issued a statement charging eight Britons had been forced to submit to indignities, including stripping and lengthy examinations in full view of Chinese coolies and women, as they sought to cross the barriers.

It said H. J. Lord, assistant secretary of the Tientsin Race Club, one of the men examined, had his passport thrust into his mouth by a Japanese gendarme at the end of the examination and his hair rumpled.

Lord's clothes and those of a companion who was required to strip completely were held up to the light and their necktes turned inside out, the statement said.

M. G. Willis, general manager of the Peiping-Mukden railway, was ordered to remove his shoes, socks and coat when he sought to cross the barrier at the international bridge. The contents of all his pockets were required to be produced and were dumped together.

Reliable informants said Soviet Russians, of whom 200 live in the British and French concessions, were being treated even more severely than Britons.

Viscount Halifax To Consult Jap Envoy

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 23.—Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today that Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, will interview Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese ambassador to Great Britain, today concerning the indignities suffered by British subjects in Tientsin.

The foreign secretary will make it abundantly clear "what we think of these intolerable insults," the Prime Minister said.

He declared "we have not reached that stage yet" when asked if the time had not arrived when Great Britain should impose economic sanctions against Japan.

Mr. Chamberlain made his statement on the Far Eastern situation in response to numerous questions similar to the barrage directed at him yesterday urging a "strong action" against Japan.

"The honorable members will no doubt have seen reports of further indignities to which British nationals have been subjected," Mr. Chamberlain said.

"My noble friend (Lord Halifax) has requested the Japanese ambassador to see him in connection with these incidents today."

Cheers greeted his statement.

NAZI WRITER PAYS TRIBUTE TO CANADIANS

BERLIN, June 23.—Kurt Von Stutterheim, the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung's special correspondent at Ottawa, paid a tribute today to Canada's conkeadedness, which he said was particularly apparent in times of crisis.

"Whoever holds the reins at Ottawa must have a light hand," the DAZ journalist wrote. "He must know how to add to the load in the bumpe for this country, still in course of consolidation, is not yet always clear.

"Economically and politically Canada is not yet a coherent organism. Only things that might be fatal to a poorer country affect only superficially a country as rich as Canada.

"Despite all mis-steps, nothing is spoiled yet—still less the spirit of the Canadians."

no general war, which would be the sign to bring destruction to civilization."

A correspondent said that he had heard another European crisis was brewing.

"I have not heard of that," said the Duke. "We have been living quietly for one and a half years. I firmly believe that nothing is so serious that it cannot be worked out without war."

The correspondents informed the Duke and Duchess of some details of the visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to the United States. They showed much interest.

FOLLOWED EVERY STEP

"My brother did a marvelous job, didn't he?" commented the Duke. "We followed every step they made from the papers. It was a wonderful reception they received everywhere in Canada and the United States, wasn't it?"

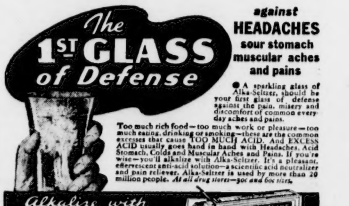

"They had a much harder trip than any I ever took. I generally took long sea travel and more rest, and once in a while I got a day off. But my brother did not halt until he spent a day quietly with President and Mrs. Roosevelt."

The Duchess explained:

She had a private showing of news reels of the tour. It looked like an exhausting trip but they seemed to stand up wonderfully."

British Labor Leader Hopes U. S. President Will Visit Britain

LONDON, June 23.— Arthur Greenwood, leading Labor member of parliament, said Thursday in welcoming The King home from Canada and the United States that he hoped President Roosevelt would break with tradition and repay the Royal visit. "He would receive an equally warm welcome," Mr. Greenwood said.

Prime Minister Chamberlain asserted all Britain was "deeply moved" by the warmth of the United States' greeting to the Royal couple, "which we acclaim as a personal tribute to The King and Queen and also as striking proof of the sympathy and friendship which animates the feelings of the peoples of the United States and the United Kingdom."

EXCEEDED EXPECTATIONS

"I think it is no exaggeration," he continued, "to say that the demonstrations of loyalty and affection by the crowds which flocked together to welcome Their Majesties at every point on the journey exceeded the utmost expectations.

"Thanks to the efforts of the press, radio and newsreels we have been able to follow every detail of Their Majesties' progress almost as if we had been present ourselves.

"We have been able to see with our own eyes how in Canada, and in Newfoundland later on, the visit demonstrated in a most impressive manner not only the significance of the crown to the British Commonwealth of Nations but how the loyalty to the crown in the abstract has been translated in a personal feeling of affection for Their Majesties.

"This feeling has been engendered by the simple, kindly and human qualities which we know are characteristic of our King and Queen (cheers). When Their Majesties crossed the frontier into the United States the magnificent welcome which they received from the President and the American people again outdistanced all precedents and must have delighted Their Majesties' hearts.

PROFOUNDLY MOVED

"I am certain that afforded profound gratification to His Majesty's subjects throughout the Empire and I can speak for the people of this country when I say we have all been profoundly moved by the warmth of this greeting which we acclaim as a personal tribute to The King and Queen and also as striking proof of the sympathy and friendship which animates the feelings of the peoples of the United States and the United Kingdom.

"You have told us there will be an adjournment this afternoon, when the honorable members will have an opportunity, of which I know they will desire to take full advantage, to express their personal feelings of loyalty to Their Majesties when they pass this house.

CEASELESS CARE

"I hope we shall not forget to express our appreciation of the exertions of those who throughout this long journey, covering so many thousand miles on sea and land, have given ceaseless care to the well-being and safety of our beloved Sovereigns."

Mr. Greenwood, speaking in the absence of Labor leader Clement Attlee who is ill, then said:

"I wish to associate myself with the motion moved by the Premier and, in such words as I can command, say 'welcome home' to our Sovereigns from their historic mission overseas. In the past, monarchs and Royal princes have left these shores for visits abroad but this visit of The King and Queen across the Atlantic is, I believe, unique in the annals of this country.

"The visit to Canada has proved to the world that this Dominion, with problems of its own, with an historic background of its own, with internal questions of its own, is a loyal and devoted member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"If there be some who believe that a far-flung empire with a king as its symbolic head is a myth, the visit of Their Majesties must have dispelled that view.

EQUALLY WARM WELCOME

"Should it be that His Majesty contemplates further visits to other dominions that view will be corroborated. (Cheers.) If it should be that the United States President may break an old tradition and visit this country or one of His Majesty's Dominions, he would receive an equally warm welcome. (Loud cheers.)

"This side of it really needs no emphasis because I think we all feel that the slater-nations of the commonwealth through their common loyalty to the crown express their common loyalty to one another.

NEW CHAPTER

"The visit of Their Majesties paid to the United States opens a new chapter in relations between this country and the American republic. It proves that blood is thicker than water, but it proves even more the brotherhood of peoples who live under the flag of freedom and democracy. (Cheers.)

"There is for the world as a whole a profound significance in the reception the King and Queen received.

"It was, as the premier said, due to the personal charm and friendliness of Their Majesties, but it also expressed the real kinship of the English-speaking peoples, and although one is a republic and the other a constitutional monarchy it proves that they are facing common problems and sharing common ideals, desiring what all men and women of goodwill desire—maintenance of peace and freedom and establishment of enduring prosperity in the world. (Cheers.)

"No words of mine are adequate to express what I believe to be the real significance of this visit. It may have more far-reaching results in maintaining peace and friendliness in the world than we know. For that we greet them back home amongst us." (Cheers.)

Here Is Text of The King's Speech

LONDON, June 23.—The text of His Majesty the King's speech at the Guildhall Lord Mayor's luncheon today follows:

I thank you, my Lord Mayor, I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for the manner in which you have honored this toast.

I thank you also for your recognition of the significance of the long journey that the Queen and I have just completed.

To us personally it was a momentous and happy experience. Historically it was unique in that no reigning severeign has in times past entered some of the sister dominions that constitute our British Empire.

It is my earnest hope that it may also be of some importance in its influence on the Empire's future destiny.

SINCERE WELCOME

We left these shores almost exactly seven weeks ago. During that time we have travelled thousands of miles, by land and by sea; we have seen great cities, noble rivers and vast mountain ranges; we have been welcomed with a sincerity that stirred us profoundly by millions of our fellow-human beings in Canada, in the United States and in Newfoundland.

In the last 24 hours that welcome has been re-echoed in the land which to us, as to so many of our kindred overseas, will always be home. The detailed story of our travels is familiar to you through the daily press, newsreels and broadcasting corporations which on both sides of the Atlantic have reported it with accuracy and sympathetic understanding. I will only try today to tell some of the impressions of my journey that remain in my mind.

MOST POTENT FORCE

First and deepest is that even in this age of machines and mass production the strength of human feeling is still the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs. Over all nations, as a North American historian has written, is humanity. In no part of the world, perhaps, is that truth more evident than in the continent from which I have just returned. Within its geographical limits live men of almost every race, of many creeds and diverse political faiths, yet first and foremost they are human beings. Over them all is humanity.

I found too a realization that we in this island race have made a helpful contribution to the gradual weaving of that fabric of humanity.

That is evident of course from the pages of history, but which of us has not found that history and geography, too, never really live for us until we travel?

CLOSELY INTERWOVEN

I was deeply impressed, for example, to find our great political testament, the Magna Charta, an object of keen public interest in the world's fair at New York, and at every turn of my long journey it was constantly brought home to me how closely interwoven are the threads of our own history with those of the development of that newer continent across the sea.

Especially was this clear in Canada. Were you, my Lord Mayor, to find yourself in the city hall of Vancouver, you would see there on the coast of the Pacific ocean, some 6,000 miles from this Guildhall, an exact replica of the mace which in this old city of London is the symbol of your civic authority. The sight would stir the imagination of any man who holds your high and ancient office. So it was with me.

BRITISH INSTITUTIONS

In Canada I saw everywhere not only the mere symbol of the British crown, but I saw also, flourishing as strongly as they do here, institutions which have developed century after century beneath the aegis of the crown; institutions British in origin, British in their slow and natural growth, which, because they are grounded root and branch on British faith in liberty and justice, mean more to us even than the splendor of our history or the glories of our English tongue.

To see them in the vigorous of Canadian soil could not be the a source of pride to me, and I counted it a high privilege to be the first of my line to play some personal part in giving them practical effect.

DETECTED INFLUENCE

In person I presided over the Canadian parliament at Ottawa and assented to legislation. In person I received the credentials of the new minister of Canada's great and friendly neighbor, the United States. In person I signed the trade treaty between the two countries. And, even in the loyal enthusiasm shown to the Queen and myself hundreds of thousands of my Canadian subjects, young and old, I thought I detected too the influence of those institutions.

For it was not alone the actual presence of their King and Queen that made them open their hearts to us. Their welcome, it seemed to me, was also an expression of their thankfulness for those rights of free citizenship which are the heritage of every member of the great commonwealth of nations.

FORCE FOR PEACE

It was the desire to serve the ideals of that commonwealth which led me to undertake this journey; to foster its sane and wholesome faith; to show, if I could, that its heritage, which I have been called upon to assume, exists today as a potent force for promoting peace and goodwill among mankind. The Magna Charta, an object of keen public interest in the world's fair at New York, and at every turn of my long journey it was constantly brought home to me how closely

King's Speech

I have been called upon to assume, exists today as a potent force for the promotion of peace and goodwill among mankind."

STIRRED PROFOUNDLY

Of the trip itself, he said: "We have been welcomed with a sincerity that stirred us profoundly by millions of our fellow human beings in Canada, the United States and in Newfoundland. In the last 24 hours that welcome has been re-echoed in the land which to us, as to so many of our kindred overseas will always be home."

"In Canada," he continued, "I saw everywhere not only the mere symbol of the British crown; I saw also, flourishing as strongly as they do here, institutions which have developed century after century beneath the aegis of the crown; institutions British in origin, British in their slow and natural growth, which, because they are grounded root and branch on British faith in liberty and justice, mean more to us even than the splendor of our history or the glories of our English tongue."

The King delivered his speech after hearing the Lord Mayor, Sir Frank Bowater, read a cable from Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressing Canada's pleasure at Their Majesties' safe return.

Only 18 hours after their arrival in London the King and Queen showed themselves to hundreds of thousands of their subjects who jammed the brilliantly decorated route from the palace to the "city", riding through the chilly streets in an open landau.

TOY PERISCOPES

From 8 a.m. onward spectators sought places to view the procession as it moved from Buckingham Palace to the Guild Hall. Many of them who had seen yesterday's Royal arrival at Windsor and the procession to Buckingham Palace, re-hoisted their toy periscopes to watch the spectacle.

London paraded its ancient customs as Their Majesties left the palace. At 12:30 p.m. the strains of the National Anthem heralded the departure of the procession and the Royal landau rolled from the quadrangle while trumpeters blew a shrill flourish and a captain's escort of Lifeguards clomped ahead.

CAPTIVATING SMILE

In the first carriage rode the King and Queen. The Queen was in dove grey, with grey fur, and gave the crowd the smile which captivated Canadians, Americans and Newfoundlanders. The King wore the full dress uniform of an admiral of the fleet. The Royal suite occupied three carriages.

The procession went down The Mall through Trafalgar Square and along the Strand to Temple Bar, the ancient entrance to the city, which the King must still obtain ceremonial permission to enter.

The Lord Mayor, garbed in ermine and public robes, stood guard on a purple carpet opposite Temple Bar where the old wooden gate which once barred progress had been replaced by a purple rope held by two policemen.

As the escort was sighted the policemen dropped the rope and The King's landau stopped opposite the Lord Mayor, who presented His Majesty with the "Great Sword." The King touched the sword, acknowledging his acceptance, left it with the Lord Mayor and drove on.

RUSHED TO GUILDHALL

The Lord Mayor rushed back to the Guildhall and was on the steps when the landau drew up when the procession reached there.

Inside the hall, before the Mayor left to go to Temple Bar, distinguished guests shaking hands with their fellows paused to applaud vigorously when Vincent Massey, the Canadian High Commissioner, was announced. They paid tribute to him for his part in organizing the Canadian tour.

The assembly applauded again when Joseph Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, was announced.

HALL RESPLENDENT

The stately hall was resplendent for the city's welcoming luncheon. The King and Queen sat side by side in arm chairs of crimson velvet and gold under a canopy of draped crimson velvet, backed with cream silk ornamented with the Royal arms of England. At the Royal table there were also seats for Queen Mary, the Lord and Lady Mayoress, and other distinguished visitors.

On the Royal table and 16 other long tables was placed the gold Royal plate, glowing in the soft light which dropped from big candelabra hanging high above.

This was the menu: Clear turtle soup, trouite with verte sauce, aspic of foie gras and tongue, the city's famous baron of beef with baked potatoes and lettuce salad, casserole of chicken Saint Germain, orange jelly, strawberry iced soufflé, petits fours, dessert and coffee. Drinks served were punch, sherry, white wine, champagne, port and brandy.

Commemorate Visit

LONDON, June 23—Sir Charles Hyde, Birmingham newspaper publisher and philanthropist, is donating £10,000 ($46,800) to the late King George V Jubilee Fund "to commemorate the wonderful visit of Their Majesties to Canada and the United States," it was announced last night.

Roosevelt Offers U.S. Gigantic Home-Building Plan, at Low Cost

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Congress received from President Roosevelt today the administration's newest plan for stimulating employment, a seven-year, $3,060,000,000 lending program for projects designated as self-liquidating, and $800,000,000 more for the low-cost housing program.

In addition, Mr. Roosevelt told congress he was considering a reduction in the interest rate of mortgages insured by the federal housing administration in an effort to induce more private residential construction.

The program was set out in a letter to Chairman Byrnes (Dem., South Carolina) of the Senate Unemployment Committee, in which the President called for a "permanent policy" of federal financing of self-liquidating projects.

Mr. Roosevelt stressed that the proposals for loans for self-liquidating projects were designed not to reduce the treasury a cent and that money repaid could be re-loaned to supply continuous stimulation to business, if it were needed.

Konrad Henlein Admits Discontent Is Prevalent In Sudeten Areas

BERLIN, June 23.—Discontent with Nazi rule in the Bohemia-Moravia protectorate is prevalent to some extent in the Sudeten German areas, Konrad Henlein, Sudetenland Gauleiter (district) leader, intimated last night in an interview with the Berliner Boersen-Zeitung.

The Sudeten Fuehrer, who led his followers in the campaign that brought their return to the Reich, urged greater tact on the part of Germans who had dealings with Sudetenland inhabitants and visited their territory.

Reich Germans must remember, he said, that the Sudeten Germans "during recent generations were constantly in conflict with the (Czech) state. We bred in the Sudetenland mortal hostility to the Beneš government.

"Faced with his psychological situation, it must be realized that our task is one of banishing this instinctive distrust of all governmental authority."

FLAGS OF ALL NATIONS GREET KING, QUEEN

SOUTHAMPTON, June 23 — Flags of virtually all nations greeted the King and Queen as they stepped from the Empress of Britain Thursday.

The crossed hammer and sickle of Soviet Russia was there together with the ensigns of the dominions, the tricolor of France and the Stars and Stripes of the United States. Missing were the Italian and German flags.

NEPHEWS GET ESTATE FROM COURT RULING

Judge Decides Will Of Late Barrhead Farmer Is Invalid

Holding that the will of Franklin E. Thomas, aged Barrhead farmer, created a perpetual trust which was not confined to charity, Mr. Justice W. C. Ives, in supreme court Thursday, ruled the will invalid and directed that the deceased's nephews, William St. John Thomas and S. G. Thomas, Bluff City, Tenn., inherit their uncle's estate which is valued at approximately $3,000.

Acting for the nephews, George B. O'Connor, K.C., submitted the will created a perpetual trust which was invalid, as the gift of the interest on the estate was not confined to charitable purposes.

The will directed that all the testator's property be sold and the proceeds placed by his executors in the Bank of Toronto at Barrhead, and that interest paid by the bank in turn be paid to the trustees of the Peddle River School District to be used to the best advantage of the district. It was directed also that the trustees be empowered to keep his tomb in repair, the cost to be a first charge on the interest paid on the legacy.

Evidence of two friends of the deceased that he had intended the money to be used for a school-arship was tendered by William Begg, Barrhead barrister acting for the school district. On objection by Mr. O'Connor this evidence was ruled inadmissable as there was no ambiguity in the terms of the will.

A. Blair Patterson, acting for the executors, submitted their rights to the court.

Topcoats, Rubbers Order Of Day Here As Rain Forecast

Early risers again donned topcoats and rubbers Friday morning as overcast skies threatened to loose more rainwater on the city. Weather observers, after doing a bit of observing, were also convinced rain would fall, and issued a forecast of frequent showers and little change in temperatures.

Heavy downpours Thursday deposited a total of 07 inches of moisture over the Highlands section of the city, while the airport rain gauge registered 02 inches for the north-east area.

Temperatures climbed to a maximum reading of 69 above at 3 p.m. Thursday, and sank overnight to a minimum of 48 above at 4 a.m. Friday. Reading at 9 a.m. was 54 above.

Heavy showers fell over some sections of the near north during the night, while temperatures ranged at 8:30 a.m. Friday from 43 to 60 above.

Relief for the Municipalities

Negotiations between the provincial and federal authorities have not yet been completed regarding the proposal of Hon. Norman Rogers that the Dominion and the provinces pay 80 per cent of the costs of direct relief, leaving the municipalities to pay only 20 per cent. But they are evidently proceeding favorably in the case of Alberta, since the province is forwarding to the cities 80 per cent of the costs for April. It is assumed, apparently, that the Dominion will contribute half the amount.

This arrangement is substantially, though not literally, acceptance of the claim long made by municipal authorities that federal and provincial treasuries should relieve them of the entire cost of unemployment relief. The twenty per cent, which it is proposed the municipalities shall continue to provide, is estimated to be about the amount of the cost of supporting indigent persons and families, a responsibility which has always rested with the municipalities and to which they have made no strong or general objection.

The consistent, and logical, claim has been made that the Governments, rather than the municipal councils, could control the factors causing unemployment, and should therefore meet the cost of supporting those who were in need because they were unemployed. Had the Governments done this in the past, the municipalities could have continued to take care of their indigent without piling up debt and raising taxes. The relief offered them under Mr. Rogers' proposal is many years belated, but none the less needed on that account, and will be none the less welcome if the provinces agree to do their part.

New Zealand Speeds Up

The New Zealand Government has found that its housing scheme is not working out quite as was expected. Because of high costs of materials and labor, the houses cannot be rented at rates payable by families with small incomes. They are therefore being occupied by families with fairly good incomes; who might otherwise have provided themselves with houses, but are glad to take advantage of the opportunity to secure ready-made quarters at moderate rentals.

That the project did not accomplish one result hoped for does not destroy or lessen the other benefits derived from the scheme. Builders are busy and earning full time wages. So are the numerous classes who make a living by getting out building materials and delivering them, and performing other necessary services incidental to extensive construction operations in all parts of the country.

There is apparently no scarcity of tenants, and the house shortage is said to be as acute now as it was a year ago. Twice as many houses are to be built this year as last, which is conclusive evidence that those already built are not empty, and that while the low-rental objective may not have been reached, the average standard of housing in the Dominion is improved and improving.

Edmonton, and other Canadian cities where congestion is a fire-hazard and a health-hazard, may profit from New Zealand's experience. Even if the low-rental ideal cannot be fully attained because of construction costs, that does not rob a housing policy of its solid advantages as an employer of labor and a means of bettering general living conditions. The market for rentable houses in these cities is not restricted to people who are absolutely poor. Hundreds of families in Edmonton who are moderately well off are also living in cramped quarters because no others are available, and would welcome the chance to get better accommodation.

The Ouster Program

The directors of Japan's program of conquest picked the time to launch their drive to oust other foreigners and foreign interests out of China, as they also chose which of the obnoxious western rivals in Chinese trade should be ousted first. With Britain and France too heavily involved in Europe to fight in Asia, this was undoubtedly the time to start the expulsion, and these the powers against which to direct the operations.

But, because of local and historic conditions, foreigners resident in China are not segregated according to nationality, and foreign interests are not located in separate national zones. United States residents in Tientsin live in the British concession, and their business establishments are also located there. A similar situation exists at Amoy. Hence the American Board of Trade at Tientsin has appealed to Washington against the blockade, while the United States consul at Amoy lodged prompt "representations" against the stoppage of the food supply of the foreign settlement.

To further complicate matters, the western governments have an inconvenient habit of acting together when and where they have "nationals" who need protection, whether against Chinese or Japanese interference. Thus at Swatow the enterprising Jap. naval commander found his style was being cramped by the presence of a British and a United States destroyer, sent there to protect British and United States citizens in the general massacre that was proceeding. He ordered them to leave. They didn't go. So what?

That episode at Swatow is a small scale picture of the whole scene as regards the presence of foreigners in China. These can't be just ousted in instalments by nationalities, for they and their interests are intermixed. If they are to be cleared out, this will have to be done by areas. Which means that what Japan would like to do piecemeal will develop into an attempt to oust all westerners and western interests at one swoop. That might seem to be a rather large-sized job, even to war leaders with badly swollen egos.

Editorial Notes

A Winnipeg man didn't like banks because they pay little interest, and cheques have to be stamped. So he hid $5,500 in a wood-pile—where somebody else found it. He knows now one solid reason why it is good business to use the banks.

Those fore-sighted and fortunately-placed taxpayers who paid their taxes in advance are now getting cheques from the city treasury for the amounts by which their tax-bills this year are lower than those of last year. That will encourage them to pay in advance again next year. A rebate is the next best thing to found money.

Young Czechs are reported to be crossing the Polish border to join the Czech Legion, already 18,000 strong. Nazi methods of government are evidently not reconciling this non-German people to their rule; still less converting them into loyal subjects of the Fuehrer. Theft of their country gave him a great armament plant and rich natural resources. But it left the Czech nation, as it was before, a potential enemy should he become involved in war; and fired by a new cause for hatred.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

It's on open question whether additional speed in fighting aircraft is of advantage. There's a point where the machine may control the man, instead of the man controlling the machine. Two of the half dozen Hawker Hurricanes that were sent to the coast have come to grief already. At very high speeds accuracy in aim is not possible, nor quick manoeuvring. These are problems for the experts to decide. They'll have to decide soon for the 300 mile an hour airplane is not far away. The U.S. War Department announces a 2,000 horsepower engine of radial air-cooled type. That is 500 horsepower greater than any previously made and twice as powerful as was believed possible a few years ago.

A new type of wing has been produced by a team of aero engineers at the Langley Memorial aeronautical laboratory that greatly increases the speed of planes.

In conventional wings the air is turbulent near the leading edge, causing a "drag." Hitherto no method has been found to overcome it. In the new type wing which is to be fitted to U.S. army planes, the transition point between smooth and turbulent air is placed about two-thirds to the rear of the wing, greatly reducing the drag.

If greater speed is not wanted, the new wing confers benefits just the same. A smaller engine with less fuel consumption will do the work of a larger engine. The new invention will effect savings of millions of dollars.

More interesting to the layman, at any rate—is in the new type plane being built for the use of British naval ships. At present, planes are catapulted into the air from the decks of warships. The new plane, of which some have already been supplied, simply take a leap in the air and wing away. The plane is a modification of the autogyro, with reduced rotor blades—the sort of windmill affair over the top. The rotor blades are spun at high speed with the craft on the ship's deck—the blades being held in a position so that they do not develop any "lift". As soon as the blades are allowed to drop into the "lift" position, the craft takes a leap into the air from the stored momentum. It can keep on speeding vertically into the air if wanted, or it can fly off in any desired direction. When the plane is landed it simply comes down easily in a perpendicular drop, in the manner of an autogyro.

Haven't heard yet what the lower deck ratings style the new airships—probably "Leaping Lenas" or "Jumping Jennies."

While most of the western nations are deploring their shrinking birthrates—United States last year had 1,300,000 fewer children in the schools than in 1930—one nation can boast that it leads all the rest. It is the nation with the largest population—Soviet Russia. A census taken in January of this year,

HOW TO STOP "RACE SUICIDE"

shows that the population of the Soviets on that date was 170,467,186. That is an increase of 23,500,000 since 1926, an increase of births over deaths of 15.9 per cent.

While some of the republics, such as White Russia and the Ukraine show increases of only 12 and 7 per cent respectively, due to the famine of 1932-33 and the purge of 1937-38, all eleven republics in the Soviet Union show increases—some as high as 46 per cent.

Greatest increases have been in the cities, due to the movement from the rural areas to the urban industrial centres. Moscow which had a population of 2,000,000 in 1926 has increased its population by 2¾ per cent. Gorky, now an important industrial city, increased its population 644,000—an increase of 290 per cent. Eight other cities show populations in excess of 500,000. Russia's increase of 15.9 per cent in 12 years contrasts with United States 11 per cent; Italy 9 per cent; Germany 7 per cent; Britain 5 per cent, and France 2.7 per cent.

What is the reason given for this increase of births in a country which until 1936 had abortion clinics. Commissar Sautin of the National Economy Commission says, "where there is no unemployment, poverty and pauperism, where all toilers—workers, collective farmers and intellectuals—are guaranteed an ever-mounting level of material welfare, the population increases steadily. A continuous growth of population is a law of socialism."

No need to theorize—the fact speaks for itself.

Religion Day By Day

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

REUNION OF TWO WOMEN

One of our dearest friends, whom I first introduced to the other friend who is now her husband, is the happy mother of ten grown children. She is a marvel to all of us for her abundant hospitality, and for her ceaseless activities in a variety of good causes.

Before her marriage she was a nurse; and a few days ago she met, after the lapse of a generation, her closest nurse friend. "I felt like something prehistoric, as I saw her, so carefully kept and youthful, though she is two years my senior. She has been able to have constant professional care of her face and hair and hands and clothes, and she looked blooming. Her marriage has been happy, but she has no children."

If our friend had a passing thought of envy for her exquisitely-kept friend, what were the latter's sentiments as she contemplated ten handsome, stalwart children. "Cornelia's jewels!" The evangelist knew the answer. For life's real rewards and successes are the children who will carry on one's character and dreams into uncounted generations.

That Thou settest the solitary in families, and that Thou hast dowered our lives with home joys, is the cause of the thanks we offer Thee today, our Father. Amen.

Read Psalm 127:1-5.

Italy and Germany, among other nations, have assured the Pope that they do not want war. Nations admitting that they want anything but peace would create the same kind of scandal as employees asking for lower wages.—Toronto Globe and Mail.

Signs of Trouble

Disconcerting stories have been coming out of Italy the past few days which, if true, seem to suggest that the people of that fair land are becoming—the French would have a lovely word for it, stuffed, choked; in plain English fed up with patriotism. Not with patriotism precisely so much as with what patriotic a la Fascista demands in terms of compulsory service, simulated devotion and, above all, taxes.

A French newspaper avers that two attempts were made on Mussolini's life within a single fortnight. It is promptly denied by Italian authorities, as might be expected. There have been previous reports of the kind, and they have all been denied. And let us accept the denial at its face value.

These stories are of less moment than one told by the diplomatic correspondent of The Manchester Guardian, that Italian reservists called to the colors marched through the streets of Florence imprecating the Duce. The same writer says there has been rioting in other cities and infers, laconically, that the propaganda campaign to "sell" the German alliance to the Italian people has been unsuccessful.

It does look rather like it, doesn't it?—Calgary Albertan.

Honors Well Earned

The people of Canada will welcome with genuine satisfaction the honors conferred upon His Excellency the Governor-General, His Excellency's secretary, A. S. Redfern, and Lieut.-Col. Eric Mackenzie, Comptroller of the Governor-General's Household, in connection with the visit of Their Majesties to this Dominion. Lord Tweedsmuir now adds the insignia of a Knight Grand Cross of the Victorian Order to his other decorations. This honor, bestowed at the last moment before the departure of Their Majesties from Halifax, has indeed been well earned.

Lord Tweedsmuir's connection with the initiation and bringing about of the Royal Visit to Canada was a contribution to the happiness and prosperity of this country that cannot well be measured. Through his great influence, he was able to overcome obstacles and launch what has proven to be the most signal success in Imperial gestures that Canada has ever seen. To this must be added the priceless contribution to international amity accomplished by the American tour. For this alone, if there were nothing else, His Excellency deserves his honor.

Sir Arthur Redfern, K.C.V.O., who came to Canada with His Excellency, and Lieut.-Col. Eric Mackenzie, D.S.O., C.M.G., D.S.O., have been towers of strength in the very elaborate and exacting work involved in planning many of the most important of the multifarious details connected with the Royal visit. This work involved a volume of arduous duties of which the public knows little or nothing, but which imposed upon those charged with the responsibility of fulfilling them a very heavy strain and made unusual demands upon tact which both gentlemen were able to meet in a manner that contributed much to the ultimate success of the tour.

It is fitting that their services should receive such recognition, and His Majesty's gracious act in conferring these honors upon them on the eve of his departure from Canada constitutes but another proof of his thoughtfulness and unfailing appreciation of duty well done.—Montreal Star.

On This Date

Who first suggested that Bytown should be the capital of Canada? I do not think that that question has ever been satisfactorily answered. There have been many claimants for the honor. Now a new one comes into the record. In a letter to Lord Elgin, dated June 22, 1849, Earl Grey, then colonial secretary, wrote:

"The change of the seat of government is a very important and difficult question. I see many strong reasons for moving it from Montreal, but there would be great difficulty and expense in having it alternately in the upper and lower provinces for periods of four years. I see by the Votes (Votes and Proceedings of the Assembly of the Province of Canada) that it was suggested that Kingston or Bytown should be chosen, and if this could be managed I am inclined to believe that it would be an improvement, especially if it was part of the arrangement that the favored town should provide the necessary buildings."

It was not until 1858 that Ottawa (as Bytown had become in 1854) was chosen by Queen Victoria as the seat of government of the Province of Canada, and 1865 before the parliament and the government offices were actually removed there. Meantime the parliament met alternately at Toronto, 1849-51; Quebec, 1851-55; Toronto, 1855-59; and then Quebec again until 1865. The British North America Act was not very definite about the capital, section 16 reading:

"Until the Queen otherwise directs the seat of government of Canada shall be Ottawa," just as if there was some possibility that at some future time it might be moved elsewhere. Just why the provision was inserted is not clear, because when the B.N.A. Act was passed the parliament building had been erected and a good deal of money had been spent on other offices. And since then there has never been any serious proposition to abandon Ottawa.

Sunshine Shafts

One afternoon on the veranda of a hotel a beautiful young woman and her little six-year-old son sat near a man. The little fellow trotted over to the man who patted him on the head inquiring: "What's your name?" After he told the boy lisped, "Is you married?" "No, I'm not," was the reply. Then the child paused a moment and turning to his mother said: "Mother dear, what else did you tell me to ask him?"

Salesman (beginning to unroll his samples): "I'd like to show you—"

Contractor (emphatically): "No, no, I'm not interested.

Salesman (eagerly): "But couldn't I just show you—"

Contractor (firmly): "Not a chance. I'm not interested."

Salesman (wistfully): "Well, would you mind if I looked at them myself? I haven't had a chance to see them for three weeks."

Side Glances

"Don't fret—he's lucky it's a car. My father had three horses and two cows I had to keep clean."

Everybody to Work?

Editor Bulletin: Mr. Davidson and Mr. Keynes, according to last Thursday's Bulletin, have suddenly discovered that you can put everyone to work, perhaps, provided the banks will lend enough money.

My! Oh my! Oh My! What a discovery, and where have they been sleeping these last fifteen or twenty years. We Social Credit students have said that very thing for years, in two ways: first, that our present economic system can only function with an ever-growing burden of debt, and you could hardly call it a burden if it does away with unemployment; and second, that it does not distribute enough money in wages, salaries and dividends to get rid of production as fast as our highly efficient industrial machine can produce, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce to the contrary notwithstanding.

It would seem now that Mr. Keynes by inference has given the lie direct to those who claim that there is no shortage of purchasing power.

Another thought, Mr. Editor, if work for all can only be provided by huge increases in debt, with higher taxes for interest, logic would seem to say that attempts at debt reduction would increase unemployment, with more taxes again for relief, and that is just what happens.

And what about it? Does Mr. Keynes really believe that debt can ever be paid; hardly, or he would not say, as reported, that he expects it may be necessary to reduce interest to the vanishing point within the next thirty years.

Eh, what? Social Credit in a "couple of nut shells." Maybe Quebec, as reported, is on the right track with a proposed tax on deposits, presumably savings deposits.

Mr. Keynes' article in the London Times showing how the British government's huge expenditure out of borrowings increases all business is aptly called "Crisis Finance," and apparently is not to be permanent, so what?

By the way, it does not follow that because the banks will loan on threat of war on a large scale which apparently is needed, that they will do so when that threat is removed. The answer is, No.

Now in conclusion, Mr. Editor, how about our Dominion government ordering the Bank of Canada to create enough new money and

Divergent Opinions on Part Canada Should Play In Pan-American Union

CANTON, N.Y., June 23.—The third Canadian-American conference ended Thursday with a warning that divergent opinions regarding the part Canada should play in the pan-American union might drive an "opening wedge" between United States and Canada.

Dr. Robert C. Wallace, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, said: "We Canadians would do well to take this problem under careful consideration. There is the danger that here is the beginning of an opening wedge that may serve as a dividing point between the United States and Canada."

Discussion over Canada's failure to participate in the Pan-American Union developed after U.S. Senator Elbert D. Thomas (Dem., Utah) asked why that nation is "holding aloof instead of taking the chair reserved for her."

Answering the challenge, Reginald G. Trotter, professor of history at Queen's University, voiced fear Canadian participation might weaken rather than strengthen relations with the United States.

"Canadian interests in Latin America are in some measure competitive with the United States," he said. "Her interests in some cases would throw her into the group challenging American policy rather than supporting it."

hand it over to Mr. Dunning, interest free, of course, to enable him to relieve our overburdened taxpayer to the extent of paying all social services, pensions and relief. No, no, don't say the bank cannot do that creating because Mr. Towers says they can and do. 350 Canadians Fail To See Royal Landing

SOUTHAMPTON, June 23.—Unluckiest people Thursday in the Royal reception staged here were 350 Canadians who came abroad in the Empress of Australia from Quebec.

The ship, due to dock at Southampton at 1 p.m. (5 a.m., M.S.T.), would have served as a floating grandstand for the passengers affording an excellent view of the Royal landing.

But earlier in the day the Australian encountered dense fog off Cherbourg and docked here some time after the Empress of Britain.

GOLDFIELDS

DOMINION WILL CONSTRUCT DOCK AT GOLDFIELDS

The department of public works, Ottawa, has called for tenders for the construction of a new dock at Goldfields. According to specifications the dock is to be built in the form of a "T" having an approach of 85 feet, 14 feet wide and crossed by a "T" on the outer end 22 feet wide and 100 feet long. Rock filled cribs are to be used instead of piling.

It is understood that the government has allocated $8,500 for the proposed dock. Tenders are to be in by July 7 and are to be made out on printed forms supplied by the department of public works. As is customary a certified cheque for 10 per cent of the amount tendered for is to accompany the tender. The successful tenderer will be allowed five months in which to complete construction.

The new dock is to be built just north of the present Hudson's Bay dock. It will facilitate the handling of freight for the town but will not be of use to mining companies as both C. M. & S. and Athona have their own docks adjacent to their camps.

Another barber shop and pool room was opened in the building owned by Sam Saturday. It will be operated by Frank Rebert, formerly of Lac La Biche in conjunction with the Beaver Club. This gives Goldfields its second poolroom and third barbershop.

PEACE RIVER

F. S. Wright, of Edmonton, accompanied by his two daughters, left Wednesday, by canoe down the Peace River, bound for Yellowknife. The canoe is equipped with a kicker, Mr. Wright, accompanied by Bob Murdock, in 1928, drove the first car over what later became the present highway.

The Peace River branch of the B.P.O.E. is sponsoring the July sports to be held here, and great crowds of children from all over the district are expected to attend as elaborate arrangements have been completed for a free day for all the children, ice cream and candies included. A full program of sports for the young and old is also on the program.

An important improvement in the main highway west of town in the Strong Creek district is under way and when completed will eliminate five right-angle corners and the hill on both sides of the creek, all within a distance of half a mile. When completed the highway will be straight. Two new bridges over 100 feet long will be built to span the creek and a tributary ravine.

C.N. RAILWAY MAN FEELS LIKE NEW; THANKS DAY HE GOT MOSBY'S TONIC!

"My Back Was Full of Aches and Pains!" Says Mr. Forder—Had Sluggish Kidneys—Stomach Always Bloated With Gas. But Now Mosby's Tonic Has Relieved Him and He Says: "I Feel Fine and Gladly Endorse This Splendid Medicine."

MR. A. J. FORDER, Well-known Edmonton Resident, Who Tells in This Announcement How MOSBY'S TONIC Relieved the Suffering He Has Endured for Years. "I Want to Endorse Such a Medicine to Others," He Says.

Mr. A. J. Forder, of 9314 104th Ave., Edmonton, is still another long-time sufferer of this vicinity who is praising and endorsing the New, Scientific Medicine, known as MOSBY'S TONIC, which is now being introduced to crowds daily in this city at the Army and Navy Dept. What he has to say about Mosby's Tonic is Truly Worth Reading. This well-known local man's testimonial reads as follows:

Weak and Worn Out, Due to Stomach Distress

"I just feel so grateful to Mosby's Tonic after what it did for me that I want to give you my statement and extend it to others who suffer like I did," said Mr. Forder. "For many years, since 1914 to be exact, I had been a victim of gassy indigestion and bloating spells after my meals, and due to this gassy, bloated condition, I couldn't sleep properly at nights. Felt weak and worn out ALL THE TIME. My kidneys were so sluggish that my back was full of aches and pains. I got so run down that sometimes I felt like I could hardly drag one foot after the other.

Now Feels "Like New!" Thanks Mosby's Tonic

"I tried in many ways to get relief from this suffering but it seemed of no use, as nothing helped me. Then recently I found Mosby's Tonic and started taking it. And I want to say that it was exactly what my weak, rundown system had always been needing. I began to feel better before I started on my second bottle. This medicine relieved my gassy indigestion and now my food is digested better than they have IN YEARS. I get some real nourishment out of my food and feel like a new man in general. Will say this medicine stopped those pains in my back and had a splendid action on my sluggish kidneys. Another thing, my bowels are more regular now than they have been IN YEARS. It certainly gives the bowels a thorough cleansing. I simply THANK THE DAY I got Mosby's Tonic, and I am glad to give you my statement and endorse this splendid medicine to others who suffer as I did."

Raising A Family

Fathers often wonder why their sons go to their mothers for favors. They are secretly hurt when it happens, but, man-like, say little about it. The situation has come about gradually that no one seems to notice how things stand. The neglected father often endures torture when his boy ignores him.

O. R. Barton

Such a state of things existed in one family I know, and the man, being a thinking person, decided to correct it. His son was eight.

They had a garthing new to this father as well as the boy. Dad had put it in for exercise and air, after the confinement of the office where he worked all day, but now he saw another blessing to be had from nature's bounty. He was astute enough, also, to have observed that Harry was terribly interested in flowers. So he bought some to add to the utilitarian plots. It produced the desired effect. Harry stood around and watched for the first time.

GET ACQUAINTED BY SHARING WORK

One evening Father said to Harry, "Come out with me, boy, and we'll work together. I have fixed this garden all for you. It is your garden, but I shall help you with it. Get your hoe and we'll both go out and farm, pal."

Harry looked up quickly. His dad had not called him "pal" for months. "Sure, I'll help," he said, "if you show me what it needs."

And so it went for a week or so. Harry often worked alone at his weeding, proudly showing his father the result at night. He cut long grass edges with the shears and watered the green rows faithfully.

One Saturday afternoon, Dad said, "I think I'll try the big creek for fish today. Want to go along, boy?"

Did he want to go? It was too good to be true. They got nothing but a burn and a catch, but the quiet peace of the day and the man-to-man talk has left an impression never to be lost to Harry's young mind. He and his father are pals.

Strawberry Delight is Dish For The Gourmet

Strawberry preserves, fresh strawberries, egg white, bananas and sugar combine into this full-bodied dessert called "Strawberry Delight."

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Make the most of the deelining strawberry season. Give the ruddy little fellows a big hand. This is how:

STRAWBERRY DELIGHT
(Serves 10 to 12)

Ripe bananas, 2 egg whites, 1 cup strawberry preserves, ¼ teaspoon salt, angel food, fresh strawberries.

Rub bananas through a sieve and measure 2-3 cup banana puree into bowl. Add egg whites, strawberry preserves and salt. Then beat vigorously until mixture is thick and creamy and has lost all its spongy texture. This will take about 10 minutes of beating. Remove center from round flat angel food to 1½ inches of bottom and sides. If you use a cake baked in tube pan, make a bottom to the hole made by tube with a small disc of cake removed from center. Pile the banana strawberry mixture into the hole in the center. Garnish with whole fresh berries.

RASPBERRY WHIP
(Serves 4 to 6)

One cup raspberries, 2 tablespoons confectioner's sugar, 2 egg whites, 1 tablespoon sherry or lemon juice.

Mash raspberries and add sherry or lemon juice. Beat whites very stiff, adding a little sugar at a time. Fold berries into egg whites. Chill. Place small pieces sponge cake in bottom of tall glass. Fill with this chilled berry mixture. Top with whipped cream.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Seedless grapes, crisp bacon, rice muffins, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Creamed dried beef on toast, raspberry whip, tea, milk.

DINNER: Broiled lamb chops, creamed potatoes, new peas, chicory and celery salad, strawberry delight, coffee, milk.

Dorothy Dix Says:

Dear Miss Dix—When my wife and I married we were just children. We fell in love at first sight and married in less than three months, so we didn't have a chance to find out much about each other. Since marriage I have discovered that my wife loves to move. She isn't satisfied to stay in one place long at a time, and about the time we get comfortably settled in a house she packs up and goes somewhere else. Outside of that she is a perfect wife, a good housekeeper and saving. But I am a man who doesn't like changes. I like to stay in the same place and do the same things, and I feel that I just can't go on moving around all the time any longer. Still I do not want to give up my wife and I am afraid we will come to the parting of the ways if something isn't done to settle her. What can I do?

BILL.

Answer:

Why don't you try the railroad-ticket treatment on her? Whenever she begins to find fault with the place in which you are living and to criticize the neighborhood and compare it invidiously with some other place at the other end of the town, don't argue with her. Just step in at the tourist office next day and bring her home a round-trip ticket that will cover all the mileage you can afford.

All she wants is a change and she will come home thinking her own home is the nicest place on earth and content to go on living in it. This plan of appeasing her wanderlust will be a lot cheaper than breaking up your home and establishing a new one. And it will have the further advantage of not tearing you up by the roots and transplanting you in alien soil.

Probably the people who have, like Roark Bradford's hero, John Henry, "an itch in their heels and a wondering around in their weary minds" can't help it, but they are certainly trying companions for those of us who love our own ruts and like to stay in them.

DOROTHY DIX.

WINNIPEG, June 23.—William McMurray, 17-year-old blind boy of Manor, Sask., remembered a voice which he had not heard for nine years Thursday when he recognized a porter on a Canadian National Railway train, with whom he had travelled for one journey in 1929 and never met since.

McMurray was one of 33 blind boys from the Ontario School for the blind, Brantford, who passed through Winnipeg en route to their homes.

Father Hated Anyone Seeing His Daughter

Wealthy, eccentric, Mr. Ganning hated some persons some of the time, other persons most of the time, and anybody trying to see his daughter all of the time. Hence Royalton Herring faced some heavy handicaps before he ever saw Barbara. But Royalton had a few tricks too. How he played them to win the girl to end all girls is told in the hilarious new farce serial, "Par Is Love," beginning Monday, June 26, in The Bulletin.

Newest Cosmetics Will Reduce Grooming Time

By ALICIA HART.

The most exciting of the new beauty preparations on midsummer cosmetics counters are designed to make grooming during the hot months indefinitely simpler.

There is, for instance, a new cream depilatory which has a lightly perfumed rather than a heavy, unpleasant odor. This is to be smoothed on legs and underarms, left on from five to eight minutes, depending on the texture of the superfluous hair, then rinsed off. During rinsing, hair disappears with the cream. Afterwards, dust with bath powder or pat on a bit of creamy hand lotion.

Also new is a lipstick stain remover — a colorless, non-inflammable liquid which will remove lipstick stains from white collars and other clothing. Simply put a piece of clean cotton under the spot to be removed, dip another bit of cotton in the liquid and lightly rub the spot until it disappears. This liquid may be used to obliterate stains other than lipstick.

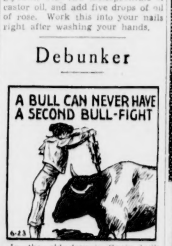

For those who want their complexions to stay light and fair, sunshine or no, there's a waterproof, sunproof cream lotion. Used frequently and lavishly on back, arms, neck and face, this prevents tanning as well as burning. It may be used also as a foundation base for makeup.

NEW BEACH BAG IS A CARRYALL

A de luxe beach bag, of waterproof material, has an oil skin compartment for your bathing suit or books and knitting. In another compartment are sunfan cream, sun glasses, a comb, some cleansing tissues. And in a third are cleansing cream and skin tonic, eye lotion, powder, rouge and lipstick and hand lotion.

With this, any woman should be able to enjoy an entire day on the beach without once having to worry about equipment with which to freshen up a bit.

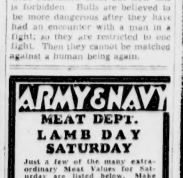

Minute Make-Ups

If you find yourself suddenly out of your favorite nail oil, here's an excellent substitute you can whip up at home. Mix one tablespoonful of glycerin with two tablespoonfuls of castor oil, and add five drops of oil of rose. Work this into your nails right after washing your hands.

A BULL CAN NEVER HAVE A SECOND BULL-FIGHT

In the old days in Spain bulls were put into any number of fights with successive oxen, but now this is forbidden. Bulls are believed to be more dangerous after they have had an encounter with a man in a fight, so they are restricted to one fight. Then they cannot be matched against a human being again.

What To Do

I'm always pleased when I receive an invitation to a party or special function, but I am often at my wit's end to know just how it should be answered. How should I reply to a visiting-card invitation? Is it considered good taste to give invitations over the telephone?

MRS. X. Y. Z.

Answer—Today we are entering into more and more informality and the visiting card and telephone are increasing in popularity as mediums of invitation. A short note is one way to answer a visiting-card invitation. Another is to mail one's own visiting card marked "With pleasure"—and repeat the date of the party. The telephone is most informal, but a very satisfactory way of asking a person to an affair. Generally the guest will tell her hostess then and there if she can accept or give the reasons if she can't. This permits the hostess to get her plans under way immediately instead of waiting for last-minute acceptances or regrets. Garnish with whole fresh berries.

Weather conditions recently have favored growth of wheat in France and the outlook for the crop has improved. However, there appears little likelihood that the crop will approach last year's very large out-turn and one private authority yesterday placed the prospective yield at 276,000,000, which would compare with 245,360,000 last year, and the five-year average of 296,240,000. However, should the crop reach this total, it would be about sufficient to cover home needs, which are currently placed at only 289,000,000 annually. Large shipments are again indicated from the Argentine this week, with estimated total of 6,062,000, compared with 7,784,000 exported a week ago and 955,000 during the same period last year.

CROP REPORT IN 3 PRAIRIE ZONES GOOD

WINNIPEG, June 23—Further improvement in moisture conditions occurred throughout the three western provinces during the past week as a result of showers or heavy rains reported from practically all sections.

The one adverse condition is continued threat of grasshopper damage coincident with warmer weather. Areas previously reporting slight frost damage have shown almost complete recovery, while soil drifted districts in southern Saskatchewan show only partial recovery where earlier damage was severe, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture, Canadian National Railways.

RAIN IN MANITOBA

Every division in Manitoba reported rain during the week with wheat in the shot blade and isolated reports of heading out around Portage and Dauphin. Divisions in southern Manitoba uniformly report crop conditions excellent with warmer weather now required to promote growth.

Moisture conditions are reported good at practically all points on the Edmonton division, in most cases the best in years. No serious damage has occurred since cool wet weather has checked grasshopper and cutworm activity considerably. Wheat is stooling well and is in shot blade at many points. Coarse grains similarly are progressing favorably.

CALGARY DIVISION

On the Calgary division cool cloudy weather and heavy rains provided an additional two inches of precipitation. Wheat is 8 to 10 inches high generally and coarse grains up to six inches. Warmer weather would be beneficial on most subdivisions but the general crop outlook is very encouraging at this time.

On the Northern Alberta Railways Edmonton and Lac La Biche subdivisions weather was cool and showery but heavy rains are still needed in some districts, particularly on the Grande Prairie, Smoky and Peace River subdivisions. Worm damage is abating in the latter territory.

BIDS WILL BE ASKED FOR NEW OCEAN LINERS

SAN PEDRO, Calif., June 23.—The Canadian-Australasian steamship line expects to ask British shipyards for bids next month on the first of a series of 22-knot liners planned for British Columbia-California-Australasian service.

J. N. Greenland, general manager of the Union Steamship Company of New Zealand, which is co-owner of the Canadian-Australasian line with Canadian Pacific Steamships said the ships would cost approximately $10,000,000 each, would be of 25,000 gross tons and have a sea speed of 22 knots. They are designed chiefly as first cabin vessels. They will have 450 first cabins, 200 second class and 100 third class.

NO LIGHT ON VOTING DATE FOR DOMINION

OTTAWA, June 23—A full session of cabinet council with Prime Minister Mackenzie King presiding for the first time since May 16, when he started on the Royal tour, failed to throw any new light on the date of the general election but accomplished a great deal of routine work.

Mr. Mackenzie King met his ministers yesterday. The general election was not discussed. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," the prime minister smilingly said when asked directly if the cabinet had dealt with election matters. The ministers had too much work before them to deal with election possibilities, he said.

COLONEL FOR 75 YEARS: MAN JUST FINDS IT OUT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 23.—Ho-hum, how news does travel! John Porter became a colonel in the American Confederate army 75 years ago, but he didn't know it until he attended the blue-grey reunion at Gettysburg last July. The 92-year-old Colonel Porter told reporters about it yesterday. The appointment was made in 1864, but Porter was wounded in the battle of Atlanta before he was notified. The Confederates apparently lost him after that, until some one dug into old records at the reunion.

Ralston Will Be Appointed To Supreme Court

By THOMAS WAYLING

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, June 23.—Hon. J. L. Ralston, former minister of national defence, who retired from politics prior to the last general election, will be appointed to the Supreme Court of Canada some time this year. The forecast that he would return to the federal political arena is erroneous.

Squires Addresses 500 Orangemen In Annual Sessions

WINNIPEG, June 23—A closed constitutional affiliation between Canada and Newfoundland was urged by Sir Richard Squires, former premier of Newfoundland, when he addressed more than 500 Orangemen and women gathered here for the annual sessions of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America and affiliated organizations. The second day of the sessions found the delegates launching business meetings.

A banquet was tendered the delegates from all provinces of Canada and Newfoundland last night by the Manitoba Grand Orange lodge bodies. Sir Richard, grand master and sovereign of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America, was the principal speaker.

CASUAL HELP CITY SERVICE IS DISCUSSED

Latitude Recommended In Hiring Extra Employees From Four Groups

Civic by-laws committee on Thursday approved commissioners' recommendations that some latitude be given to departmental heads and contractors in the employment of casual help. Discussion on allocation of work to truck owners was tabled pending a full report from the city employment bureau.

Commissioners stated that rules governing employment must vary from time to time according to changing social circumstances and the conditions of the labor market.

"At present a case can be made out for employing a reasonable proportion of renters; those of non-British birth; single men and non-service men and your commissioners recommend that they be permitted to determine such propor-

12 - Year Modernization Program Is Completed With New Service

Completing the 12-year modernization program of the City Telephone System, the new North Exchange telephone switching equipment will be cut into service at midnight Saturday, it was announced Friday by R. Christie, superintendent.

The change - over will start promptly at midnight and will take about 10 minutes to transfer the 2,400 subscribers' lines from the old building at 101 street and 112 avenue to the new building located at 118 avenue and 89 street.

17 ON DUTY

There will be 17 men on duty for the cut-over. First operation will be pulling 2,400 toothpicks which are used to keep the switches open in the new exchange. This will close the switches and place the new phones in operation. Several hours will be spent in testing.

Modernization of the system was first undertaken in 1928, changing from a three-wire to a two-wire system. Total cost of the program is $1,250,000. The south exchange was changed over in 1927, the central in 1930, the west in 1938 and the north exchange in 1939.

The location of the north exchange building was changed to the wire centre of the district so that considerable savings will be effected on future underground cable construction, also the quality of voice transmission will be improved on account of shorter lines to subscribers' premises.

The new central exchange automatic equipment was supplied and installed by Siemens Bros. (Canada) Ltd., of Winnipeg. All other installation work was done by employees of the telephone department. The total cost of the entire installation abounded to $200,000.

The change-over is complicated by the fact that it was necessary to install the new subscribers' instruments in their permanent positions and fasten the old telephones temporarily beside the new ones. Immediately after the change-over takes place subscribers will commence using the new telephone and they should place the receiver of the old telephone on the hook until the instrument has been removed by workmen within the next two weeks.

INDEPENDENT TO GET NOMINATION AT STONY PLAIN

Executives of the Unity and Liberal party organizations of Stony Plain constituency, at a meeting in Stony Plain Thursday, decided unanimously to co-operate in the nomination of one candidate to be run under the name of "Independent" in the coming provincial election.

A joint committee of eight was appointed to arrange for a convention at the earliest possible date. Both organizations will retain their identity but agreed to throw their entire strength behind the candidate selected.

This move is the result of negotiations carried on for some time and is believed to represent the desire of most of the electors in the constituency who are opposed to the Social Credit government.

Members of the joint committee are: O. G. Wudel, Stony Plain; John Schoepp, Spruce Grove; H. D. McLeod, Spruce Grove; B. G. Powell, Stony Plain; L. A. McTaggart, West Jasper Place; G. J. Bryan, Stony Plain; W. Hayes, Fallis; and Wm. McLeod, Spruce Grove.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE LEADING CASE COURT HEARING

Clarence Radomski Held For Ward Hall Death Here

Heading the list of cases set for hearing in the supreme court, criminal division, which opens on Tuesday morning next with Mr. Justice T. M. Tweedie is the manslaughter charge against Clarence Radomski, Edmonton youth, held for the death of Ward Hall, Greencourt youth, in a motor car accident on Scona Road on April 2 last.

Other cases listed for hearing are: Grievous bodily harm charges against Jack and Joe Kizier, Edmonton, and assault with intent to rob charges against Frederick Shannon and Alexander Gow.

The grievous bodily harm charges against the Kizier brothers arise out of a fracas following a dance at the Polish Hall on 98 street in which it alleged the brothers assaulted Mrs. Walter Frdic. Jack Kizier also faces a charge of assaulting Mrs. V. Stanecki.

Shannon and Gow are charged with assaulting a workman in the Cecil Hotel, whom they trussed up while they attempted to break into a safe in the beer parlor.

This case was set for hearing at the November assizes, but Shannon did not answer to his name, it being later found he was serving a sentence in Regina jail. He was recently released from that institution but was immediately re-arrested on this charge and brought to Edmonton to stand trial.

MAJOR WILSON GIVES ADDRESS MILITIA WORK

Junior Chamber Of Commerce Told Canada's Forces Inadequate

Meeting at the King Edward hotel Thursday night for the last time this season the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce reviewed the work of the past year and received the reports of its various committees.

After supper, Major Ernest Wilson of the Edmonton Regiment, guest speaker, gave a short address on the "Non-Permanent Militia." Major Wilson pointed out that Canada, considering its population and size, was still inadequately served by its militia.

INADEQUATE FORCE

"The permanent land, sea and air forces of the Dominion number only 9,000 men and the non-permanent, volunteer forces only 53,000," he stated. "Canada spends but a dollar a head on defence as compared to $8 to $10 for the citizens of Britain, Australia and New Zealand." New equipment is a vital need if properly trained troops are to be maintained.

Chairman C. N. Cook of the traffic committee stated that Edmonton had become the most dangerous city in Canada as far as traffic accidents were concerned. A fatality a month for a city of 90,000 was a bad record, he said.

"Next week," he stated, "the Edmonton Safety Council and the Junior Chamber of Commerce will lay before the City Council a proposal for improving conditions in this city."

The essential feature of the proposal will be the centralizing of the study of traffic regulations and enforcement under a single committee. This committee will study the problem and lay its recommendations before the city council for action.

The Inquiring Reporter

As the shadows lengthen over the Far East, and the threat to British interests in China becomes more acute, the nature of Japan's claims to hegemony in the Pacific stand out more vividly than ever. The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter therefore sought suggestions as to what might be done to restore a peaceful equilibrium in the Far East.

JEAN BARTON, secretary: There can be no peace in China until the Japanese Imperialists are taught, by concerted action, that aggression no longer pays. At the time of the Manchurian crisis, the United States wanted to lead the way in applying pressure to Japan, but other nations held back, and that showed Japan that she could get away with more attacks in the Far East.

T. G. GRIFFITH, Canadian Legion secretary: I think the roots of the present disturbance go back further than the events which called the blockade in Tientsin into being. For many years it has been clear that the position of Great Powers holding economic concessions in the Far East are likely to be challenged. Japan feels she is the dominant power in that part of the world and will not rest until her word is accepted as law. She means trouble, unless adjustments that will satisfy her can be made on a just basis by other states.

JIM COTTLE, salesman: I certainly think that Japan has gone too far in her present actions. If she is so anxious to get a stranglehold on China that she does not scruple to attack innocent people that are living in that country, and makes a direct assault upon the lives of liberties of peaceful English citizens, it is time something drastic was done about it. Surely the resources of western diplomacy are not quite impotent in the face of the eastern challenge.

THE HUMAN EYE

By Jackson Bros., Optometrist

Most eyesight defects result not from trouble with the Retina or Optic nerve of the eye, but from other parts of the eye which are supposed to lead the light properly to the retina. Because this part of the eye is essentially mechanical, most of the common defects can be mechanically corrected just by adding helping lenses in the form of eyeglasses. And what a blessing this is.

Between the marvelous gift of nature and the remarkable discoveries that science has made in the field of Optics, it is now possible for almost everyone to enjoy perfect vision, either through naturally perfect eyes or through eyes whose defects have been corrected.

Visit our eyesight clinic which is open to you every day except Sundays and Holidays and have our registered Optometrist, who holds his degree secured by university examinations.

If you need glasses you can have the use of them while paying for them by using our well established easy pay plan in weekly or monthly payments.

SAD REMINISCENCE

One of the greatest things in life is looking back. It is particularly thrilling when you look in the mirror and there is no cop.

Old men like to talk about their youth. It's so far away they can lie without anyone contradicting them.

Slip Off Extra Pounds on Low-Calory Diet

Reduce on 3 Good Meals a Day

"Now don't you dare look, Sarah!" cried Mrs. Stout, as the scale indicator goes up and up.

"Tut, tut," replies friend Sarah. "I used to be ashamed of my weight too. Till one fine day I learned to count my calories—and started to lose my bulges."

As Sarah knows, it isn't how much you eat but what you eat that matters, Mrs. Stout. Just think of last night's dinner! You had a hearty serving of breaded veal cutlet, 350 calories; a cup of escalloped potatoes, 160; a slice of chocolate pie, 400. In just three dishes, 910 fattening calories!

But easily you could substitute three tasty low-calory dishes and get just as much to eat. A good serving of roast veal is only 200 calories, 1 cup cole slaw with tasty dressing, 100 calories; ½ cup orange ice, 140 calories. A mere 440 calories in the lot!

And on a low-calory diet planned by an expert dietitian you get lots of fruits and vegetables, keep your system alkalized and feel fit as a fiddle.

Lose weight sensibly, easily, without starving. You can slip off two pounds a week by following the program in our 32-page booklet. Gives 42 delicious low-calory menus, calory chart, exercises, three-day liquid diet to start reducing. Also menus for gaining.

POLAND MAY GET BIG LOAN FROM BRITAIN

LONDON, June 23.—The News Chronicle (Liberal) reported Thursday that the British government has decided to make a loan of several million pounds sterling to Poland to finance that country's rearmament program.

This credit would also enable Poland to buy war materials in Britain and other parts of the Empire, the News Chronicle said. The loan is to be granted in addition to the total asked by Poland's negotiating commission, headed by former finance minister Adam Koc, which is now in London.

COMMONWEALTH IS PROMISE OF GOD

Fulfillment of a promise made to Abraham by God, as recorded in the book of Genesis, was the formation of the British Commonwealth of Nations in 1931, said Rev. E. J. Sprungett of Toronto, at a meeting of the British-Israel-World Federation (Canada) in All Saints' Anglican pro-cathedral parish hall Wednesday night.

Dominion commissioner of the Federation, Rev. Mr. Sprungett will address meetings at the parish hall Thursday and Friday nights.

According to a statement made by Jesus Christ to disciples, said Rev. Mr. Sprungett, "The Son of Man should return to rule the earth in approximately 1933," the signs of Christ's return to earth as recorded in the Bible having occurred, and that the return should be made about that time "if the span of a generation may be taken as 40 years."

Bulletin Salesman

PAT RUDDY

Pat Ruddy Independent: He Sells The Bulletin

He is probably one of the best known figures in the city and has a speaking acquaintance with most of the city's important business men. His name is Pat Ruddy, 55-year-old Scotchman from the north of Ireland, and one of many ex-servicemen who have found independence by selling The Bulletin at stands on Edmonton's downtown street-corners.

Pat's stand is on the southwest corner of 101 street and Jasper Avenue and his cheery smile and hearty greeting have gained him hundreds of friends among the city's business men.

CHANGES LUCK

"Whenever things are tough in the office I like to walk down and buy a Bulletin from Pat. The sound of his voice and his cheery smile seem to change my luck," one well-known businessman told a reporter.

In the past three years, while earning his living by selling The Bulletin Pat has handed out more information than most University professors would in a lifetime. "They tell me that a person can learn just as much by reading every part of their daily paper for a year as they could in a four-year course at University. And I have sold thousands of papers to thousands of people. Those papers carried information on everything from wars to new-fangled methods of inventions and scientific discoveries," Pat says.

Pat served in the British Army for 12 years before coming to Edmonton in 1923. He was soldiering in Belfast when King Edward VII visited that city in 1903, and he was one of those who lined the streets on that occasion. Later he was one of the men chosen to give a bayonet fighting exhibition for Edward when he visited the camp at Aldershot, England. And when Edward died, Pat was one of 50 men who formed a guard of honor on the street in London for two days before the state funeral.

He also served on the streets of London when King George V was crowned. Later, during the World War he saw service in France and was one of those "Old Contemptibles" who stemmed the first German attack in the retreat from Mons.

"HUT" CONCERTS

Before he started selling The Bulletin, Pat earned his living here by playing the accordion at dances and concerts and shows, and many times he went over to the "Hut" at the University hospital and gave concerts for the disabled ex-servicemen over there.

He likes his new job. "You meet everybody and you talk to everybody. It is healthy outside there on the street, and I find that I can make myself a good living without being dependent upon anybody," he says.

"It's a fine thing for us old soldiers. Of course, in the winter it gets pretty cold, but you can always think about the summer in the cold days of winter, and then in the hot days of summer you think about the cold days. The weather isn't too bad when you take it that way.

"Another thing about it is that you learn to trust people. I have let hundreds of men take their papers with the promise that they would pay me later—and, believe it or not, I have always been paid," Pat says.

BRIDE ON A BUDGET

By JANET DORAN

THAT night, Iris woke up toward morning, and a cold fall rain was blowing in. She got up and closed the window, and turned, arrested, when Bart began muttering in his sleep.

"I tell you, it's impossible—I'm sorry, I can't help it. I can't do it, I tell you. I can't—don't you understand? My wife's asking for nothing to do with this, this is my affair. Seventy-five a week together and we owe everybody. All right, so what? You want all my creditors to be cheated of their money?"

Shivering, she lay still listening, but there was no more. Though he tossed and turned a lot and groaned. Shivering, she wondered if she oughtn't take the monk coat back after all. Before it was ever worn. But it was so cold in the morning, a sharp wind, and the driving rain. And remembering her heavy coat was worn, she put the anxiety out of her mind. Bart was always borrowing trouble. This was probably just another false alarm because he hadn't made $50 clear profit this week, or something like that.

They breakfasted hastily, and Bart hurried away as soon as he was finished. At noon, when she telephoned, Iris was informed he was out. And Ellen was lunching with her husband, and neither offered to invite her to join them. So she ate a solitary lunch at the soda bar around the corner. And finishing, heard the news about her husband losing his radio and washing machine agency.

"Sure, didn't you know?" Tricks over there now, taking the stuff I heard he could make a lot of dead-beats pay their weekly installments, so the company took them over. But this will be a bad dent to the shop all right. Hurts a business when anything like that hits them."

• • • •

Iris didn't answer. She walked out and went back to the office. Past Professor Kilteridges little bungalow where the young men and girls of the senior and junior classes gathered to discuss serious things, nightly from 4:30 to 10. Past the Gamma sorority where girls often dashed out in mid-winter to set a pan of chocolate peanut butter fudge to cool in the snow, where gay lighted music blared forth during prom week-ends. Where smart roadsters swooped up to the main entrance to the fortunate few who were dated.

It was raining still, and a sophomore took her in the same time as a junior's freshly waved coiffure, and across from Chem Lab to Lib Arts, trooped couples arm in arm, fingers laced, toting armfuls of books, talking earnestly, laughing. College kids.

Iris felt almost old, hurrying past them. Nodding to one or two she knew. Knowing they thought of her as "Mrs. Winkler, the dean's office." Because she'd been there so long. Longer than any of the present crop had been in college. Two college terms longer. Eight years.

It was funny, too. All through each one of those eight years, she had had almost the identical same worries. Worries over some dress she wanted and thought she couldn't have. Worries after she got it, for fear she wouldn't be able to make the payments and might lose it. Worries over suits, coats, gowns, wraps. But always the same. Always worries. Always all her married life, too. Worrying over the powder blue suit the very night Bart was in the gallery him. Then silencing her worries because of what she could do, once she had it.

That night, Bart was home ahead of her. Lying on his bed, covered with a satin puff. Ill with a severe cold. Tired, and ill, and silent. Iris tried to make him take some medicine, some aspirin, or a gargle, or something, but he refused. He was all right; leave him alone. She tried to make him have a doctor.

"I don't want a doctor, and I couldn't pay one if I had him. Now get out and leave me alone, will you?"

In the kitchen, feeling rather abused and neglected, she scrambled two eggs and made coffee. There was some short-cake left, and some salad. Eating her solitary supper, Iris decided budgets weren't much fun. Not mixed with marriage, they weren't. Because the budgets were to blame for all this. If Bart weren't so set on living within his old budget book restrictions, everything would be fine.

In the middle of the night, she heard Bart prowling around. And speaking to him sharply, was alarmed to discover he was walking in his sleep. His voice sounded queer and thick, and a little shrill, but he got back into bed again directly when she spoke to him. And right after that he had a chill. Shaking so he ran bath. Three feet away trembled, Iris was alarmed and got up.

She got her heavy winter coat, and her rubbers, and her rain coat and piled them on his bed. She lighted the gas and heated water, and got a hot water bottle. Still he shook as his teeth trembled and he kept muttering in awful spasms of fever or night anecdotes at a time.

At 7 when Iris looked again, he was delirious and did not know her. Frantically, she called a doctor.

To Be Concluded.

Hush Falls As King Salutes War Memorial

LONDON, June 23—In the quiet of London's joyous celebrations of Their Majesties' return Thursday, the teeming throngs in Whitehall suddenly silenced their cheers in a tribute to Britain's Great War Dead.

As the Royal carriage passed the cenotaph on its way to Admiralty Arch, a hush fell. The King's arm swung to salute and the Queen and Princesses bowed their heads.

Then the cheering broke out again.

CANADIAN-BORN HUMORIST DIES AT SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, Calif., June 23 — Walt Mason, Canadian-born humorist and poet whose "rippling rhymes" were printed by newspapers throughout North America, Australasia, Honolulu, died an invalid of several weeks.

The high priest of horse sense, as George Ade dubbed him, became ill at his villa at suburban La Jolla a few days before his 77th birthday, May 4.

Mason came to the United States from his native Columbus, Ont., when he was 13. He was an orphan and had been sentenced as a vagrant. A [illegible] him with defective hearing and he became deaf.

He never attended school, but learned by powers of observation.

His first connection with newspapers came in St. Louis, Mo., when he got a job on a job press. He assisted in the general office and did reporting. Two of the ingredients of his success, distaste for and a knack for writing, he said, came from his deafness.

Nature to expel these dreaded [illegible] through the natural channels.

Mason received a number of honors during his career.

WOMAN AGED WITH SCIATICA

Now Praises Kruschen

When sciatica attacked this woman six years ago, she couldn't move without great pain. Treatment after treatment failed to help her. She tried Kruschen and got quick relief.

Six years ago, I suffered terribly from sciatica" she writes. "I tried everything, but to no avail. Then I took Kruschen Salts. The first few doses gave quick relief. At the end of a few weeks my sciatica had gone. Now I always begin the day with a pinch of Kruschen in a glass of water. I live a strenuous life, being widowed four years ago, and having a son to keep. I run a boarding-house. I am 52, but everyone says I look [illegible] in Kruschen Salts."

Dominion Cabinet Gives No Consideration To General Election Date

OTTAWA, June 23. — Prime Minister Mackenzie King, at the close of cabinet council last night, said the government had not given consideration to the date of the next general election.

"But it is gratifying to see so many evidences of satisfaction with the government on the part of many of those who have been unfriendly," the prime minister observed. He did not develop this remark.

A start was made on the 3,000 appointments which have accumulated for disposal by the government but Mr. King said no announcements could be made until the Orders-in-Council had been approved by the Governor-General.

While there had been no new appointments, the prime minister said there had been some "reappointments" in the trade and commerce department and this was taken to mean the board of grain commissioners had been continued in office.

Members of the grain board are appointed for 10 years and their terms are due to expire in a few weeks. The present board, located in Winnipeg, is composed of F. B. Ramsay, chairman, C. M. Hamilton and D. A. Magnusson.

Annually, ordinary colds, many of which are made worse by neglect, cost England $125,000,000 for treatment, and more, etc.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the cause, but relieve the irritation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from Meyrick Drug Stores or any druggist, a package of Sun-Ray Ointment as directed. This formula, which is used successfully in relieving the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender parts, is recommended by a physician and is highly recommended by many who have used it. It seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy which is inexpensive and one may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Your Health — By Dr. Frank McCoy

Most players have a good deal of trouble in their selection of opening leads. When the opponents have bid all four suits their dilemma becomes even greater. It is extremely difficult to lay down hard and fast rules or even to give advice as to what should be led when the leader has no sequences or other combinations that give him safety. But I might say this: If the about-to-be dummy (the player on the leader's left) has bid two suits, it usually is wise to lead through the suit that he bid accordantly. This is especially true when he has bid and rebid one suit before even mentioning the second. In today's hand the success or failure of the slam contract hinged squarely on the opening lead.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	3 diams.	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 no'trp	Pass
4 clubs	Pass	4 hearts	Pass
5 hearts	Pass	6 hearts	Pass
Pass	Pass

I hasten to say that I do not approve this bidding, nor the final contract. North's five heart bid must have been dictated by pure optimism—certainly with his lack of "fit" he had no reason to push the bidding past the game level and, indeed, should have passed to three no trump. This time, however, with one of the defenders a staunch ally rather than an enemy, the overbid contract was highly successful.

After long thought West opened the nine of clubs—and that was his finish! Dummy won and a heart was led. East split his honors (it would have done him no good to duck) and declarer won with the ace, then returned the heart jack. East won and cashed the diamond jack. Declarer won, drew the adverse trumps in one more lead, then entered dummy with a club. A third round of clubs, ruffed in the South hand, cleared the entire suit, and declarer could easily avoid the loss of a spade or diamond trick.

Admittedly, it is not pleasant to lead from a hand such as West held, but, since he apparently narrowed his choice to the suits bid by North it is very surprising that he selected a club instead of a spade. North had opened the bidding with one club and had chosen to rebid that suit before even mentioning his major. Later, he had taken out three no trump with another club bid. Surely, he must have considerable strength in clubs. Thus, as between a spade and a club opening, West certainly should have chosen the former and, had he done so, declarer would have found himself with a losing contract, in that he could not have avoided the loss of a spade trick, as well as a trump.

West End Rallies For 5-5 Deadlock

WEST END REDS made a desperate bid in the last few minutes of last night's series opener to deadlock the score at 5-5 as Reds and Maple Leafs battled for junior box lacrosse honors. The Dr. MacBeth trophy, emblematic of the city championship, is at stake in this best-of-three-game series. The second game will be played at 119th street on Tuesday evening.

Kenny Reardon rifled home the goal that put the Reds on even footing. Bob David supplied Reardon the pass to deadlock the count in the series opener at Alberta Avenue.

Reds, last year's champions, were trailing the Maple Leaf squad during most of the game. Leafs raced to an early lead and managed to stay one goal to the good throughout but simply couldn't hold down the Reds on their last desperate bid.

TOP SCORERS

Marshal Darling and Harris were top scorers for Maple Leafs with two goals each. Darling also added an assist to his total. Pringle was next in line with a goal and an assist while Jackson got one assist.

MacKenzie provided most of the scoring thunder for the Reds. He tallied three of his team's goals while Simpson and Reardon got one each. Simpson also netted a brace of assists with Reardon getting one assist point. Others getting assists were McCallum and David.

Darling sent Leafs out in front in the first frame but Simpson tied it up early in the second. Harris gave the Leafs an edge as the second period ended.

MACKENZIE LEADS

MacKenzie played the Reds on even footing again early in the third. However, those tiring Leaflets came back with greater power and goals by Harris and Darling jumped the Leafs two to the good at the end of the third.

Fighting desperately, the Reds scored twice at the start of the fourth. MacKenzie was the ace sniper with both of these goals but the Leafs took a momentary lead as Pringle scored. Reardon did the equalizing duties for the Reds just before the end.

Looking Them Over

Veterans' Day Just a Pause Here and There

TODAY Mayfair Golf and Country Club is host to the veteran golfers of Alberta who start a two-day tourney this afternoon in quest of the Walsh trophy, emblematic of the veteran championship of the province. President H. Milton Martin announced that the draw would not be completed until just before starting time at 1:00 p.m. You have to be 55 years of age to get into this exclusive competition.

Play will continue Saturday morning and finish at noon, when competitors will be tendered a luncheon at Mayfair, to be followed by the annual meeting of the association.

This event is a happy affair that preserves the thrills and fun of a provincial championship tourney for the grand-hearted veterans of the fairways who are not quite as spry as they once were. However, don't think that there is anything soft about the handicap competition. Some exceptionally fine golf is usually turned in by the select band of hoodlums of 20 years. No putting in those days when you couldn't get over the little score today.

YEAR'S FIRST CANOE REGATTA HERE ON SUNDAY

Plans have been completed for the first canoe regatta of the season to be held Sunday afternoon at 2.00 o'clock at Los' Canyon, home of The Voyageurs, just west of Whitemud Creek.

A full list of racing and novelty events that are sure to provide spectators and contestants with thrills, and the inevitable ducking are on the program.

Interest among paddlers is exceptionally keen as those finishing among the winners will be awarded points according to position. This system will be continued in all events held throughout the summer, including the gruelling Fort race and the Bulletin's War Canoe race. The man and girl paddlers amassing the greatest number of points will be crowned river champions for 1939. As a result the committee in charge of Sunday's regatta is anticipating greater competition.

The river bank fronting the clubhouse has been cleared of underbrush and will afford ample accommodation for the large number of spectators expected. The program includes:

1, Men's singles, half-mile with turn; 2, ladies' singles, half-mile straightaway; 3, men's doubles, half-mile straightaway; 4, ladies' doubles, half-mile straightaway; 5, crab race; 6, mixed relay; 7, gunwale race; 8, mixed doubles, half-mile straightaway; 9, pillow fighting, first heat; 10, hurry scurry, where contestants swim and board loose canoes then paddle to finish; 11, ladies' turtle race; 12, men's war canoe race; 13, ladies' war canoe race; 14, pillow fighting, final; 15, mixed war canoe race.

Dodgers Defeat West End Cards

Last night the South Side Dodgers regained their winning ways by defeating the West End Cardinals by the score of 9-7 in a Midget League baseball game.

Ken Cox, Bill Dawe and Max Inkpen were the best for the Dodgers. Charlie Gautier and Irgraham starred for the Cards.

If the Dodgers can keep up their good playing, those teams from the South had better look out.

sacrifice fly with the bases full in the ninth inning giving the A's a 6-5 victory.

BOB PASTOR RATED NO. 2 CHALLENGER

Wenstob is Recognized in Light-Heavyweight Ratings, N.B.A.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Bob Pastor replaced Lou Nova as the No. 2 challenger to Champion Joe Louis in the National Boxing Association's quarterly ratings released Thursday. Tony Galento still was ranked top-challenger.

It was indicated inactivity had kept Pastor from receiving similar ranking in the last previous ratings. Putting him in the No. 2 spot shoved Nova down to No. 3 and Max Baer, whom Nova defeated, to fourth.

FARR RANKED FIFTH

Tommy Farr of Wales, not carried in the first 10 in previous ratings, was given the fifth position.

The other heavyweights, in order were: Red Burman, Willie Reddish, Heavy Polo, Johnny Paycheck and Tom Kenneally.

Al McCoy of Montreal and Boston and Maurice Strickland of New Zealand received honorable mention.

The association said it would recognize as light-heavyweight champion of the world the winner of a 15-round fight between Melio Bettina, and the winner of one of the following impending matches: Gus Lesnevich—Dave Clark; Len Harvey—Jockey McAvoy; Billy Conn—Ron Richards.

WENSTOB RATED TENTH

Pigots of Hamilton, Ont., 10-8, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1.

Morey Lewis, the bounding colegian from Texarkana, Ark., completed the semi-final line up by defeating Jack Schlesinger of Detroit, 5-7, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

Louis Perfects His Plans To Meet Tony's Charge

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 23.—Tony Galento isn't the only one who realizes Tony Galento's chances against Joe Louis Wednesday night lie in the ability of the pudgy puncher to rush in and land the first punch of the 15-round fight. Joe Louis does too.

So the brown bombing champion is perfecting a plan of his own to stop the Jersey barkerp in his first charge. Simply, it's this, as explained by Joe, himself, yesterday.

"I'll jest ketch him comin' in."

TWO "CUTE" TRICKS

Joe has heard that Tony's battle plans have been drawn around that initial attack. As a result, the champion will be ready with two "cute" tricks when they square off in Yankee Stadium. They consist of his short range artillery, a left hook, but, more particularly, a short right uppercut.

Louis has been using them against his sparmates these last few days, and, although he still hasn't perfected his defence against left hooks, his short right, either to the chin or under the heart, does plenty of damage.

HAS LAYOFF TODAY

Joe went through his last full-time workout yesterday, boxing six rounds. From now until Monday, except for a day off today, he'll spar only four rounds in each drill.

The New York state boxing commission, through its chairman, General John J. Phelan, and his physician, Dr. William Walker, put the official "okay" on the dark dynamiter just before the workout.

RIGGS ADVANCES TO SEMI-FINALS

LONDON, June 23—Bobby Riggs of Chicago gave Emil Gabory of Hungary only three games in the quarter-finals of the Queen's club tennis tournament Thursday.

Joseph Asboth, another Hungarian, lost to I. G. Collins of England, 6-2, 6-3.

Riggs' opponent in today's semi-final will be Baron Gottfried von Cramm, German ace, who thumped Elwood Cooke, of Portland, Ore., 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

BEAR ON PROWL FOR LIVESTOCK DICKSON AREA

There used to be a time when almost every rancher and homesteader in the west packed a rifle just to show such wild animals as coyotes, wolves and bears that it was plumb unhealthy to tamper with livestock. Finally, because their ranks were thinning and possibly because they didn't like being shot at, the wild animals began leaving their domestic brethren alone.

There is one bear, however, in the Dickson district, about 25 miles west of Innisfail, who seems to have forgotten the grim lessons taught his forefathers. Recently he killed two sheep and several sheep, owned by Mrs. Charles Braden of Dickson. The bear has been seen on several occasions, but to date he is still running wild. Needless to say, farmers in the district are once again packing their trusty rifles.

Gravelling Of 80 Miles Of Highway To Stettler Urged

Headed by Rev. J. A. Wrightsell, M.L.A. for Wetaskiwin, a delegation representing the Montgomery municipality interviewed Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, on Friday, urging that the 80-mile highway from Wetaskiwin to Stettler, be gravelled.

It was pointed out that several miles of the Wetaskiwin end of this highway had been gravelled and that in view of the heavy traffic over the road, that the whole distance ought to be brought up to this standard.

In reply to the representation, Mr. Fallow declared that the matter would be given consideration and indicated that, if possible, action would be taken.

In the delegation were E. Johnson, reeve of the municipality; Major G. Baker, secretary; Fred Lundeen, Wetaskiwin; Art Sommers, Wetaskiwin, and Chris Schentz, Wetaskiwin, all members of the Montgomery municipal council.

Heavy Air Fight Between Japanese, Mongols Reported

TOKYO, June 23—A heavy air battle between Japanese and Mongolian forces was reported today to have taken place Thursday over the Lake Boir area on the frontier between Manchukuo and Russian-dominated Outer Mongolia.

Domei (Japanese news agency) reported from Hsinking, Manchukuo, a communique of the Japanese Kwantung army telling of the clash.

The communique said Japanese fighting planes had engaged and lost five in the battle above Kanchurmiao, north of Lake Boir. It said 19 Japanese planes had engaged 150 Mongol craft.

FRANCE, TURKEY SIGN SANJAK CESSION PACT

ANKARA, Turkey, June 23.—France and Turkey today signed a formal agreement ceding the strategic republic of Hatay (Sanjak of Alexandretta) to Turkey.

The agreement is a corollary of the Turkish-French mutual assistance pact to be concluded later today in Paris.

It was signed by Sukru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, and Rene Massigli, French ambassador at Ankara.

MONTREAL, June 23—Tribute in form of modern's patron saints—Lord Lister and Sir William Osler—was paid today by the Canadian Medical Association as the organization's 70th annual convention drew to a close.

Another Mine Strike Looms At Blairmore

BLAIRMORE, Alta., June 23.—Another strike of miners employed by the Greenhill mine in Blairmore is threatened.

About 250 employees of the mine did not show up for work this morning and a meeting has been called for 11 a.m. when workmen will determine future plans.

Dissention has been caused by the "make up" it is reported, in cases where miners do not dig sufficient coal to reach their minimum pay, the coal company in the past has "made up" the difference in unusual conditions. Differences will be settled at today's meeting, it is expected.

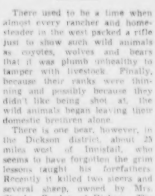

The miners were on strike last February but since then have been running smoothly since men returned to work at that time.

ACT TO HELP FARM CO-OPS PROCLAIMED

Government Authorized to Guarantee Initial Prices To Producers

OTTAWA, June 23.—The act to assist in the co-operative marketing of farm products other than wheat came into force today by proclamation. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, announced that the measure, passed at the recent session of parliament, had been proclaimed.

The act authorizes the government to guarantee initial prices paid to producers by co-operative associations handling any farm product. The guarantee may equal but not exceed the average market price of the product involved for three years prior to the arrangement.

Application of the act to any co-operative enterprise will be governed by agreements to be entered between the government and the co-operative.

ONE OF SEVERAL

The act was one of several important agricultural measures adopted at the last session of parliament. A companion measure was the act to assist in the co-operative marketing of wheat, which has not yet been proclaimed.

It authorizes the government to guarantee co-operatives against loss when they pay an initial price of 60 cents per bushel for wheat, basis No. 1 Northern at Fort William.

This year's wheat crop, however, will likely be marketed under the amendments to the Canadian Wheat Board Act which fixes the initial price payable by the board at 70 cents a bushel.

Chambers, K.C., of Calgary, will deal with the Marketing Act. Speakers also will be present from the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce and other northern trade bodies.

Bob Kirkpatrick Serves The Bulletin's Readers

Step right up folks. We want you to meet Bobby Kirkpatrick of Wabamun, the up-and-coming young business man who sees that you get "all the news and pictures" when you're vacationing at Lake Wabamun in the summer, or if you are a permanent resident of that town serves you both summer and winter, and always with a smile. But let him tell his own story. Here it is, with a "by-line" and all:

By ROBERT KIRKPATRICK

I am the regular Bulletin carrier boy at Wabamun during both winter and summer. I am 13½ years old and attend the Wabamun school, being in the senior room Grade VII. My father is a retired railway agent.

Gee! I'm really been looking forward to the holiday season this year. There are so many things to do at Lake Wabamun. My pals and I go fishing and on long hikes in the country and woods around here. We always seem to find something different and interesting to do.

PRINCIPAL TOWN

Have you ever been to Lake Wabamun? The town of Wabamun is about 35 miles from Edmonton on the C.N.R. and is the principal town on the lake. There is a lot of commercial fishing done here, especially during the winter, and Wabamun is the principal shipping point.

As the bus only comes right into Wabamun if it is carrying passengers or freight to the town, I often have to go about two miles to the highway, where I pick up The Bulletin, and return the town and deliver them. Being a carrier boy is a lot of fun, especially in the summer, when I look forward to meeting visitors of former years again and meeting new visitors who are spending their first holiday here.

IS PROFITABLE

I've found that being a Bulletin carrier is mighty profitable, too. I am able to make enough money to buy lots of little things that I want and that otherwise I would have to do without. I'm hoping to be able to attend the Calgary exhibition and stampede this year.

And just watch my smoke! Since I've been a carrier here there have been very few complaints about the service The Bulletin readers have getting. Visitors find that they get their paper about the same time they received it right in their homes in Edmonton. This summer The Bulletin readers at Lake Wabamun won't have a single complaint to make. They'll be handing out a fair amount of praise instead.

AROUND THE TOWN

Five bicycles were reported stolen Thursday, two of which were recovered overnight, according to police reports.

Four city youths have been summoned to appear before the juvenile court for carrying passengers on their bicycles, police said Friday.

Miss Yvonne Bernier returned to Edmonton Tuesday after visiting friends and relatives in Winnipeg for two weeks, where she was the guest of the Italian Consul, Pietro Colvertaldo and Mrs. Colvertaldo, her uncle and aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Francois Deniset, Judge and Mrs. Joseph Bernier, Mr. and Mrs. Alexandre Bernier, Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Kereack and Miss Annette Prenoveau.

Damages totalling $986 were awarded to F. Stanley Davis, Edmonton contractor and farmer, by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives Friday in his supreme court action seeking $3,507 from James H. Bowman for alleged injuries received in an automobile accident on the intersection of 88 street and 115 avenue on January 1 last. The court, however, held there had been contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff and ordered that he pay three-quarters of the costs of the action, which will reduce the damages awarded to approximately $600. D. D. Tighe, K.C., acted for Mr. Davis.

W. G. More, assistant general manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, Toronto, and W. Bourke, western superintendent, will arrive in Edmonton Monday on a western tour.

Alfred J. Carlson, Limberg district farmer, was committed for trial at the fall assizes at Vegreville by Magistrate A. U. Label, St. Paul, on three charges of incest.

Decrees nisi of divorce were granted in supreme court Thursday to Patricia J. Hollinger from Jacob Hollinger, and to Louise Strochen from August Strochen. Entwistle, by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives on the usual statutory grounds.

Solicitor for the Canadian National Railways, western region, A. Beatty Rosevear, K.C., Winnipeg, was admitted to the Alberta bar by Mr. Justice W. C. Ives Friday morning. Presentation was made by Neil D. Maclean, K.C., legal representative for the railway in Edmonton.

Members of the Edmonton branch of the United Commercial Travellers, their families and friends, will attend the annual picnic of the organization to be held 2 p.m. Saturday at Victoria park. Races and other events are being arranged for the children. J. A. McLean, George Hutchinson and Lloyd W. Ryan form the committee in charge.

Through The Mill

There seems to be a kind of an unwritten law that all lotteries are conducted for the benefit of some charitable institution. For example the Irish Sweep is for the Irish hospitals. Our local draws for automobiles and such, are held for the benefit of the service organizations sponsoring them. And a group of Edmonton Chinese who have been operating a lottery here found suddenly — police court Friday that they have been operating for the benefit of the city of Edmonton—to their great surprise and chagrin.

Their lottery was a very private affair, being limited to 30 or 40 and his lads from the vice squad landed in on the joint about a week ago. They took the names of all of them Chinese, into the Black Maria and hauled them to the police station.

The eight Occidental boys who found themselves accidentally in the same predicament, pleaded guilty immediately to charges of being found in a gaming house and paid fines of $5 each and costs, netting the city $16.

In police court Friday seven Chinese pleaded guilty to charges of conducting a lottery and were each fined $50 and costs. Three were convicted of being found in custody and were fined $30 and costs each. Thirteen pleaded guilty to charges of being found in and were fined $2 and costs each, all, of which totals up to $482 and costs for the city. And one aged Chinese, who was 89, pleaded guilty to the charge, saying he was just watching. So the Crown, feeling very generous, withdrew the charge against him. After all, $482 for a night's work is very nice — very nice indeed — and the city fathers will just hold some more lotteries for the benefit of the Edmonton taxpayers maybe the mill rate will come down.

"He said if he wasn't locked up he would do it again," explained Const. Bob Robertson after telling the cadi how the prisoner happened to get into the dock on a charge of obtaining a meal by fraud from a city restaurant.

"You know you have anything to say?" asked the cadi.

"No," said the prisoner.

"You know you had no right to do this," argued the cadi.

"I did."

"Then why did you do it?"

"I was hungry." The case was set over while the cadi ponders the question of sentence.

40-Year-Old Miner Killed In Fall Of Rock At Pine Creek

Ancient Cookie

CONESTOGA, Pa., June 23—A Christmas ginger cookie baked 78 years ago is among the treasured keepsakes of J. W. Morrison. Shaped like an animal, the lit-bit was baked by Morrison's mother and carefully put away by his six-year-old sister, who died a year later. It still is in a good state of preservation.

tion from time to time," the report said.

BLUE CARD

It was also suggested that a "blue card" from the employment bureau be required, which would be issued to persons having two years' residence in the city.

General claims to priority in employment, approved by commissioners, are ownership of property, British citizenship, having dependents and war service.

Commissioners felt that too much rotation of work among a large number of men tended to lower general efficiency. Receipt of relief should not entitle a man to preference, they said.

"We have given the department-heads some latitude in regard to employing the most efficient men," Commissioner R. J. Gibb said.

"Yes, of course, these other qualifications should only be used as a basis for preference in cases where ability is equal," Ald. E. Brown commented.

HAT CLEANERS

The committee heard delegations of hat cleaners and shoe shine parlor operators both opposing and upholding the recently passed early closing bylaw, which requires closing of such shops at 8 p.m.

The representatives were instructed to discuss the bylaw among themselves and return when they could reach an agreement or make a joint submission. Meantime the item was tabled.

Wrestling Display Thrills Soldiers At University Hut

A sports program was given on the lawn in front of the soldiers' wing at the University hospital Thursday night, under the auspices of the Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., when Mike Clayton and his troupe of wrestlers put on three exhibition bouts.

In the opening bout, Mickey Percheson and Graham Nelson wrestled to a draw. In the second bout, Bad Boy Cummings and Ralph Loeffler showed just how tough it was to be pleasant, and in the third-up, King Clayton and Soldier Thomas battled it out in great style, with the former taking the verdict by a slim margin.

On hand to treat the patients and staff of the University hospital, "Paddy" Griffin of the Canadian Legion thanked Mike and his boys for their efforts, which brought more thrills to the patients than they have enjoyed in a long time.

Unification Of Two Railways Is Denounced

C. J. Miller was elected delegate to the National Labor Congress convention to be held in Montreal, September 18, at a meeting of the Natural Labor Council in the St. Regis hotel, Thursday night during which a resolution denouncing the proposed unification of the C.N. and C.P. railways was passed unanimously.

Mr. Miller will also attend the convention of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees at Ottawa, August 28. No meetings will be held by the National Labor Council during July and August.
